abruptly on the Poplar street bridge at the Ninth street exit in St. Louis.

4 Families Suffer Loss in Blaze

Fire of undetermined origin gutted the second story of a four-family apartment building at 936 Jackson street, Venice, Tuesday evening and destroyed the clothing and other possessions of two families with a total of seven children.

Venice police said an appeal to the American Red Cross was made to aid the children. Police said the apartments that were destroyed were occupied by Mrs. Minnie Latham and Mrs. Louise Johnson, mothers of the seven children.

Two other families living in apartments on the main floor of the building also were forced to find other quarters. Firemen said they received the alarm at 5:18 p.m. and that flames were coming through the upper side of the building when they arrived. They were at the scene two hours.

Fire Chief William Johnson estimated damage at $3000 to the building and $1000 to contents.

The American Red Cross Chapter here said immediate relief was provided and other assistance is expected to follow complete investigation of the case.

7 DAYS WITHOUT A TRAFFIC FATALITY

Candidates Challenged But Remain on GC School Ballot

Two of five names on the April 11 Granite City school board ballot were strongly challenged at a special board meeting Tuesday night. How they were left on the ballot following an 80-minute discussion.

The board concluded that nominating petitions of Pete Carich, 4735 Vincent avenue, and Phillip Dressel, 3648 Terrell lane, are inadequate but that there is uncertainty whether the board has authority to exclude their names.

Carl Macios, a candidate for re-election, had announced at the start of the meeting that he would not participate in the decision due to his direct involvement in the election. The board then split 3-3 on whether to take action.

Nameooki Electors Up Road Budget

Set up $7500 Fund to Finance Larger Drain Tile for Rt. 203 Job

Nearly 200 Nameooki township electors voted in a public hearing in the town hall Tuesday night to increase the new 1970-71 appropriations of the township highway department by a total of $8800 for new budget totals of $38,780 in the road and bridge fund and $45,000 in the permanent road fund.

In a second public hearing immediately following discussions on highway appropriations, the electors approved without change the proposed new budgets of the town fund and general assistance fund as they were originally drawn and posted for public inspection a month ago.

Total of the town fund appropriation as approved in the hearing Tuesday night is $38,780, up from $36,140, but with an increase of $7,211, but with no difference in the tax rate because the budget this year includes expenditure of monies received from the state. This budget procedure was not followed in previous years.

The hearing on the highway department budget was conducted by Highway Commissioner Charles Hanks and his attorney Nick Vesiloff, who presented to the electors an original budget of $38,990 for the road and bridge fund and $27,000 for the permanent road fund.

Increase 3 Items
Electors voted for upward changes in three items of the administration account of the road and bridge fund for a total increase of $880, although only one of the increases was sought by Hanks.

Hanks reviewed upward from $1000 to $1200 for transportation and travel expenses.

Fire Guts Home On Harding Blvd., $12,500 Damage

Fire caused damage estimated at $12,500 at the six-room frame home of Walter E. Griffith Jr., 2812 Harding boulevard, St. Louis, Tuesday night.

Damage included $7500 to the building which had a total value of $10,000 and $5000 to contents as the interior was gutted. Firemen said the property was insured.

Griffith, his wife and four daughters lost all of their furnishings and personal possessions. They had been gone about 45 minutes before the fire started. They have relatives here.

The fire department reported the cause as being faulty operation of controls around the gas furnace in the one-story structure. The windows have been boarded up.

ALL-DAY BRIEFING in new assessment procedure given to Granite City township deputy assessors yesterday in preparation for new 1970 evaluation of personal property. Mrs. Shirley Voegelé (standing), staff member in the assessor's office, outlines details of the new assessment and exemption routine.

New Assessment, Exemption Tally Begun

The new 1970 assessment of township property in which resident householders will be personally assessed, began Tuesday. A crew of deputy assessors working out of the office of Township Assessor James Barton began the arduous task of personally contacting every householder in a revised and more complex assessment routine following all-day briefing sessions in the assessor's office yesterday.

The assessment work also will begin in the other townships of the Quad-City over the next two weeks. John Bridick, Venice township assessor, said that while Local 525 has the field in their house-to-house canvassing for new personal property evaluations on April 13.

Joseph Cohan, township assessor of Nameooki township said he expects to start the new assessment work in that township within a few days; and Otis R. Reeves, South Roxana, assessor of Chouca township, said the assessment work may begin in that township tomorrow.

Must Sign Form
All will follow the same pattern of reassessing personal property in residential house-holds, but in addition this year must have the householder fill out an exemption application which entitles the property owner to exemption of one household automobile on the 1970 assessment. This exemption form will apply to tax bills collectible in 1971 and will not affect this year's tax bills.

Deputy assessors, Barton said, will call at each house hold and will make the personal property evaluation as they have in the past. In addition, however, the exemption form also will be executed bearing the valuation of the household furniture and the valuation of the car which the householder will sign and return to the assessor's office.

13 Undergo Surgery At Local Hospital

The following are recovering from surgery which they underwent at St. Elizabeth Hospital since Monday.

Glenna Stagg, 2828 Dodge road; Gloria Wright, 622 Mercedosa street; Venice; Betty Pieper, 2851 Benton street; Barbara J. Johnson, 17 Lombard street; Florence M. Snow; Glenn Carbon; Eleanor Gibson; 2500 State street.

Exemption Not Automatic
Barton explained that the exemption form must be signed by the householder applying for the exemption and that in no case will the exemption be automatic. Anyone not completing the assessment procedure will be assessed as in past years.

Bargiel and Owca Named To Madison Police Dept.

The Madison city council appointed Paul E. Bargiel as a probationary patrolman, and Vin Owca as civilian desk clerk in the police station, and two auxiliary police-watchmen during a regular meeting Tuesday night.

Bargiel, 26, of 84 Grenzer home, was a member of the Madison county sheriff's department for the past four years.

His appointment is retroactive to March 8, the date his duties began, as a letter of recommendation from the board of fire and police commissioners was delayed in reaching the council floor.

He started with the sheriff's department in January 1966, held the positions of assistant jailer, dispatcher, night rider and chief jailer, and left the department with the rank of lieutenant in March. He was an investigator for the major case squad of the greater St. Louis metropolitan area in 1969 and 1970.

Bargiel is a lifelong resident of Madison except when his family lived in Granite City during the late 1940s. He graduated from Madison high school in 1964. He formerly was employed at the downtown Reese drug store in Granite City and the Monumental Life Insurance Co. of East St. Louis.

He is married to the former Pamela Hinson. They have a daughter, four years old.

Owca, who will be 21 this month, is a graduate of Madison high school and will graduate this spring from Belleville Junior College with an associate of arts degree. He resides at 1801 Fourth street. He fills a position left by the resignation of Terry Maeras.

Appointed as auxiliary police-watchmen were Earl Mosley, 707 Bissell street, and George Wallace, 1600 Market street. They will serve without pay except while on duty.

In response to the two letters dealing with Carich and one with Dressel, Dr. Walton on Monday called the special board meeting for Tuesday, citing two items of business:

"1. Determination of adequacy of the present of nomination petitions of Pete Carich and Phil Dressel or either of them, filed with secretary of the board for forthcoming school election."

"2. Determination of whether the names of Pete Carich and Phil Dressel or either of them shall appear on the ballot for the election to be held Saturday, April 11, 1970."

No Past Decisions
School Attorney Maurice Dailey read aloud sections of the Illinois statutes relating to the issue, noting that clear guidance or precedents were lacking.

It was noted that the board secretary was required to accept nominating petitions which were in "apparent conformity" with the rules, and that such requirements for the past several years have included signing by registered voters.

With 50 signatures or more of 10% of the voters required, whichever is smaller, each petition contained exactly 50 signatures. "Why in the world didn't they get 60, or even 51, to protect themselves?" Metcalf asked.

Signers Not Registered
After Dailey asserted that "there are discrepancies in the petition," board members inspected the challenging letters and they agreed that, in both instances, some of the signatures were not registered.

Spreading work stoppages by union teamsters employed by over-the-road trucking firms could severely hamper operations in Quad-City industries within a few days, but thus far has had little effect on incoming and outgoing freight shipments, it was reported today.

An estimated 10,000 drivers, members of Teamsters' Local 600 of St. Louis, were off their jobs today, shutting down about 200 trucking firms and about 140000 carterage firms in St. Louis in the Illinois sector of the metropolitan area, however, industries who are major users of the heavier trucking services reported they still were receiving shipments and having little or no difficulty getting truck service to the east.

Most industrial spokesmen agreed that continuation of the stoppage, which union officials describe as an uncalled strike, would affect operations in the Quad-City area within the next week.

The walkout primarily involves over-the-road trucks and truck transfer operations at terminals in the Illinois sector confined today to Local 600, with drivers of other teamster locals still on their jobs.

Area Truckers Working
Arthur Krause, business representative of Local 525 of the Granite City-Alton area, said that while Local 525 has from 200 to 320 drivers employed by

Liquor License For Starlight Tavern Revoked

The liquor license of Mrs. Maxine Costoff for operation of the Starlight club, 1225 Madison avenue, was revoked Tuesday by the Illinois Liquor Control Commission in Springfield following a hearing conducted last week after noon.

Ivan Maple, executive director of the commission, said the revocation of the license was based on the citation charging that Mrs. Costoff had been convicted of a violation of state statutes in which elected public officials are prohibited from having an interest in the liquor business.

The said the decision was based on income tax returns, joint income, joint savings accounts, bartender's union membership, receipts, no lease or rent money coming in from the owner and liquor bills sent to and paid by the alderman.

The alderman is being notified of the decision, Maple said. They will have the right to appeal back to the commission for rehearing if they produce additional evidence, and if refused, they will have the right to appeal to circuit court.

Alderman Costoff said Tuesday night that he did not plan to appeal the case which he attributed to "the current political situation in the city."

During the hearing, commission attorney Morton Kaplan said Costoff has living quarters over the club and that he and his wife jointly own the building.

Joint income tax returns showed that the Costoffs shared in the profits of the tavern.

Maple testified that he initially was the licensee in 1941, but that in 1961, upon the advice of late Mayor Stephen Maeras, he

Precipitation for Area 4 Inches Below Normal

The first quarter of 1970 was dry for the Quad-Cities with precipitation measuring only 2.36 inches, or 4.0 inches below the normal amount for the first three months period.

The normal amount of precipitation for the first quarter is 6.36 inches, and so far this year there has been only .20 inch recorded in January, just half inch (.50) for February and 1.66 inch in March.

March precipitation, which included several snow showers and a one-inch snow on March 17, was recorded on 16 days, compared to 10 days in Febru-

Kozielek Calls for Early Election

Acting Mayor Raymond Kozielek called for an early election to select the mayor of the city of Madison at a city council meeting Tuesday night. He said he was undecided as to his own candidacy.

He asked the aldermen to consider an election of a candidate to succeed the late Mayor Stephen Maeras as soon as possible.

"I don't think the next mayor should be faced with a budget drawn up by me," he said. A budget for the 1970-71 fiscal year could be adopted before an election is held, since the election deadline is Aug. 16.

The fiscal year begins May 1 and the budget usually is adopted in June or July.

Kozielek said he should know his own plans, but the "job of mayor" takes a considerable amount of time, he added.

"If I cannot find sufficient time to do the job, I will not seek the position. If I can, I will consider it."

The acting mayor, who is associated with an investment-development firm, has been maintaining a lengthy office hours each day at the city hall and has been devoting some evenings to meetings, conferences and civic functions required by the job.

The Madison City Organization, which dominates the political scene there, previously pledged to select and support one candidate from its group. Kozielek said he was not a candidate has not been announced.

12th Street Extension
Mayor Kozielek reported that plans for proposed extension of 12th street from State street to connect with the new Federal Aid Highway 151 are advanced, but hopes to complete the project next year. It was noted that the extension is included in the Madison comprehensive plan currently being completed.

He said the extension would benefit the Phelps-Dodge, Fox Brothers and General Steel industries plants as well as residents of the city. The route would utilize some plant property.

The council approved a request for a Martin Luther King parade to start at 11:15 a.m. Saturday at Weaver and Douglas streets, proceed to Fourth street and Madison avenue, and then disband at the Broadway viaduct.

Mayor Kozielek reported that the city is planning to purchase 5.6 acres of the Stephen Maeras Industrial Park for $500 to erect a warehouse, has been unable as yet to obtain financing of $180,000.

"We are working on it," the mayor added. "We need the money from the sale of the bond."

He noted during the meeting that the city's special revenue fund is practically depleted, and that even with funds obtained from the industrial park and from sales and income taxes, the city is spending more.

Bridge Use
In a discussion on the Chain of Rocks Bridge, the mayor said he has been in contact with an engineer group which has reported that the bridge can be utilized for some purpose, but negotiations for other use of the city-owned span are only in preliminary stages.

A letter from Joseph Brooks, consulting engineer for the bridge, reported that cost of repairing the bridge deck recently was $2806, or $966 lower than the original estimate made by the contractor.

Fifth Ward Alderman John Haynes demanded that the old Bebel Church in West Madison be razed immediately. "That building is going to fall on somebody," he said. "It's beginning to lean."

"With the rainy season approaching, I fear someone will lose their life, and we will be responsible."

"Someone will say, 'John Haynes, why didn't you do something about this bridge?' Mayor Kozielek said previous

Easter Gift Baskets Donated to Hospital

Disappointed that parents failed to bring their small children to the Kirkpatrick Homes recreation center last weekend for distribution of free Easter baskets, members of the Kirkpatrick Homes Improvement Association donated more than 40 leftover gift baskets to children and older patients at St. Elizabeth Hospital, it was learned.

Mrs. Lucille Kramer, association president, said over 60 baskets were prepared and decorated by members for children between the ages of 12 months and six years who reside in the local housing project. Only 20 kiddies and their parents turned up for the free treats, which took up nearly two weeks to prepare, she reported.

"At least the youngsters and other patients at the hospital benefitted from the parents' lack of interest in bringing the children to the recreational hall," Mrs. Kramer commented today.

3 Boys Arrested For Throwing Rocks at Car

Three Venice boys, 12 to 14 years old, were booked by Madison police on vandalism charges about 4 p.m. Monday, shortly after a car driven by Charles Szepespanik, 2542 Ivy lane, was damaged by bricks and rocks thrown at the car as Szepespanik was driving on Fox Brothers road.

Madison officers said the rear window and right rear window were broken out of Szepespanik's car. Szepespanik told police four boys had thrown objects at his car.

A short-time later Venice police apprehended three youths who were reported to have been in the vicinity of the vandalism and turned them over to Madison authorities. The boys admitted the offense, police said.

His mother, Mrs. Danny Millsap, 2497 Center street, told the Press-Record that while David was a little put out at not finding an egg during Saturday's park district hunt, he was pleased when he was given a candy egg by a park district representative "and was really pleased to see his picture."

In the rush of the hunt, in which several hundred youngsters took part, the boy scampered away before the Press-Record photographer could get his name.

YMCA Chess Tourney Winners Announced

A Madison man and an Alton youth were declared champions in a weekend chess tournament, sponsored by the Tri-Cities YMCA and open to all interested chess players, it was announced today by Dennis Nix, tournament director and Forrest Cockrell, "Y" physical education director.

Winner in the adult division was Harold "Butch" Evergard, 1021 Grand avenue, Madison, who swept all four matches in the four-round contest.

His counterpart in the junior division was Rob Metzmaker, a student at Alton senior high school and a member of the Alton HS Chess Club. The youth contest record was three wins and one loss.

Both were presented trophies following the tournament event, which was conducted at the local YMCA over a nine-hour period. No women chess players entered the contest, although provisions were made for a separate women's division, Cockrell said.

Sell-Out Performances for 'East Bank Players' 1st Show

In theatre work, amateur or professional, the aura of glamor traditionally belongs to individuals illuminated by the footlights' brilliance. Public acclaim and attention seldom extends to backstage workers who, also by tradition, "put the show on the road," according to Mrs. Milli Hoelscher, director of "Guys and Dolls" said today. The legendary custom of spotlighting only the "stars" will barely exist tomorrow when the East Bank Players' production of "Guys and Dolls" opens a two-night run at the Granite City Elks Club. All seats are sold for both performances, it was reported today.

"Little distinguishes the performers and the production staff," Mrs. Hoelscher said, explaining that many in the on-stage cast have accomplished dual behind-the-scenes roles in preparing the Players' initial presentation here.

Dual Assignments
Examples of East Bank Players personnel handling important dual assignments for "Guys and Dolls," include Raymond Peradotti, a widely-known St. Louis singer-actor and the show's "guest star," who portrays the role of Sky Masterson in the musical, but also serves in the capacity of lighting supervisor.

In addition to her glamor role of Miss Adelaide—Diane Nocheff, a Marshall grade school teacher, also is choreographer. Choral direction is under the supervision of Mrs. June Branding, who portrays Salvation Army Gen. Matilda B. Cartwright.

Background scenery, depicting the New York skyline, wing pieces and other props will be arranged by Gene Casey (Angie the Ox), Stanley Coleman (Nathan Detroit), John Payne (Arvid Abernathy) and Bill Hoelscher, producer for the Players' first public showing.

Cast Party Planned
Henry Lamb (Harry the Horse) and his wife, Ruth (a Hot Box girl) are in charge of the cast party's Mrs. Hoelscher noted.

The director also pointed out that Mrs. Leo Roman is serving as secretary-treasurer and ticket chairman; Mrs. Bob (Eleanora) Anderson, wardrobe mistress; Bob Anderson, light board and panel; and Mrs. Betty Skirball, Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Lamb, properties.

Ren Watson, pianist and Bill Drew on drums will furnish the accompaniment for such well-known songs as "Luck Be a Lady Tonight," "I'll Know," "The Oldest Established Floating Crap Game," "I Love You a Bushel and a Peck," "I've Never Been in Love Before." One of the most popular musical comedies, "Guys and Dolls" is a fab of Broadway life, based on characters created by Damon Runyon, with music by Frank Loesser. Curtain time for both the Friday and Saturday performances is 8:15 p.m.

Cabaret-Style Setting
The Players' presentation will be performed in a cabaret-style setting, an innovation in theatre-going for many Quad-Cityans. The table seating arrangement permits beverages and snacks to be served from the Elks Club before, during intermission and after the show.

One of the key organizers of the local theatrical group, Mrs. Hoelscher said that membership in the group is open to anyone interested in community theatre activities. At present, she noted, there are 47 dues-paying and supporting members.

Cast members include:
Rik Kachigan as Nicely-Nicely; Mike Tharp . . . Benny Southstreet; Henry Lamb . . . Harry the Horse; Norma Mendoza . . . Sarah Brown; John Payne . . . Arvid Abernathy; Dennis Hogan . . . Lt. Delays Questioned
Second Ward Alderman Richard Kramer asked about delays in taking legal action on other properties which have been condemned, he said about nine parcels are awaiting legal notification to owners.

The recent illness of John Gitchoff, a member of the city legal staff, was cited as a reason. The mayor said Gitchoff is recovering sufficiently to return to his municipal duties.

The council adopted a resolution commemorating slain members of the armed forces. The American flag is to fly at half-staff while their remains are in state here, as a public recognition of the supreme sacrifice paid by such deceased veterans and in respect to his family.

The mayor adopted a proclamation urging support of the VFW "buddy poppy" sale to be conducted this spring. Proceeds will be used for disabled and needy veterans and families of deceased veterans.

A request to move a street light from Fourth street between Madison avenue and State street to the alley at Fourth, so that it will illuminate the alley, was approved.

GC Kiwanians Hear 2 Board Candidates

Commenting that a communications gap has existed between teachers, administrative personnel and school board members since last year's strike, Philip Dressel, a candidate in the April 11 school board election in Granite City, told members of the local Kiwanis Club that he would "work to correct this and other deficiencies if elected."

Dressel and Pete Carich, who is also seeking one of two vacancies on the school board, addressed Kiwanians Monday evening at the Rose Bowl restaurant. Both candidates were introduced by James Henderson, who is serving as their campaign manager.

Carich emphasized particular areas he considers "weak links in the district," noting that improvement is needed to update studies in psychology, human relations and sociology fields. Dressel said that while the local tax base is sufficient to pay for an outstanding school system, specific areas of deficiency exist. In addition to problems of communication, Dressel stressed that educational opportunities for the mentally retarded and aspects of the district's psychological testing program need improvement.

Vocational training at the local high school needs updating, he said, commenting that the current program may have been adequate 20 years ago, but does not fulfill today's demands. He urged that courses "of a more technical nature" be made available to students interested in entering industry and that college level courses be added for superior students. Twenty-two members attended the dinner meeting; the first session conducted by Norman Hall since he was installed as president.

MORE ABOUT Candidates

tures were those of individuals who were not registered voters at the time the petitions were circulated and filed.

The filing period ended March 20, and March 24 was the last day to withdraw. Two 1969 board positions are to be filled; running in addition to Macios, Crider, Carich and Dressed is Mrs. Mary Church, 2145 Robert avenue. Macios resides at 79 Cambridge drive.

Secretary Stucke noted that one signer gave her name as Mary and was declared to be non-registered but that she actually is registered, as Dolly M. He concluded that the affidavit from the county clerk was "just a piece of paper."

Stucke recalled filing for the city council in a past year and being left off the ballot by council action despite the fact that he regarded his petitions as more than adequate.

Worthen said Miss Horz had declared that various school petition signers were not in the master registration file. Harold Davis asked whether her affidavit was a legal document, and Dailey said it had been certified by the county clerk.

Secretary of Full Board

Dailey said he checked Monday with County Education Service Region 5 Supt. Wilbur Trimpe, who felt that the board should meet and try to decide the issue.

He next reached an assistant to Eugene Hudson, legal advisor on the staff of State Dept. of Public Instruction Ray Page. The assistant said that the duty of the board secretary was not the entire board, to decide whether to list all the prospective candidates.

Hudson later told Dailey that the board was powerless to do anything once the secretary had accepted the petitions as apparently valid.

Due to the acceptance, the secretary is obligated to place names on the ballot, he said. Hudson said, even if it is later ruled that the petitions are insufficient.

In a discussion lasting more than 30 minutes with Hudson, the state official could find no court ruling as precedent but nevertheless maintained that the board and secretary have no authority to do anything at this point. Dailey related, commenting that the board was being asked to accept petitions on "blind faith."

Worthen said such a situation leaves petitions "completely meaningless" and Dailey agreed. Worthen added, "I can't believe there was no reason why the state set forth rules and regulations in its statutes."

The attorney said that if the board listed the candidates, it faced a possible action to obtain a court order to restrain it from doing so; if it excluded the names, it faced a possible attempt for a mandamus to force it to list all five candidates.

Dailey said there are valid points on both sides of the issue and he felt the board would be able to defend its position in court regardless of which way is decided the case. Calvo commented that, even through inaction, the board would be making a decision.

Timing of Action
Dailey said some contented that whatever petition action was taken, the action should take place between the filing and withdrawal deadlines.

He noted that the Illinois School Code specifically bars application of the general election laws to school elections. Except for this fact, it could be ruled that the petitions should have been acted on within five days, he said.

Supt. Bob J. Davis said the Illinois Association of School Boards reported it had no background from which to provide advice on the challenge.

Slate cited several instances in which signers of the Carich and Dressed petitions were not registered at the time but since have become registered voters.

He also cited some instances in which they disagreed with the county affidavit, and offered to show voter cards and copies of voter cards to the board. Slate called for a "free and open election," with the public deciding who will serve on the board.

Slate recalled a 1951 case in which the Illinois Supreme Court decided to apply the election code to a school election regardless of the law in doing so. He noted that the schools have sought to end "voter apathy," and he urged the board to "let the people decide."

The attorney for the two candidates noted that the requirement of 50 signatures mentions only "voters," it was later conceded that the same section of the school code elsewhere defines voters as registered.

Worthen said other candidates have been required to obtain enough valid signatures and that there should be no exception in enforcing the rule.

Legislation to Be Sought
Calvo, a state representative, was urged by board members to seek legislation which would clarify the board's duty regarding petitions. He agreed to consider whether the board had authority to decide petition validity.

Worthen pointed out that if there had been 40 or 50 signatures the petitions could not have been viewed as confirming, and compared this to the absence of 50 acceptable signatures.

Dr. Walton said he agreed with Stucke that the board lacked authority to act, and urged that some form of motion be made. Other board members commented that he could temporarily relinquish his role as presiding officer if he wished to make a motion.

A long pause ensued, with several indicating hesitancy to phrase a motion. Stucke's motion to do nothing, and the tie vote on it, followed.

MORE ABOUT Truckers

freighting firms, all of them were working today.

He said the controversy over a contract now being negotiated in Washington for $25,000 teamsters throughout the country does not affect trucking operations for local firms such as grocery warehouses and others who have their own contracts with union drivers.

The walkout began at midnight Tuesday following expiration of the old teamsters contracts for these drivers, involving about 12,000 trucking firms across the country. The union is seeking a new three-year contract with original demands for a wage increase of 70 cents an hour for the first year and 50 cents an hour in each of the following two years. The union since has agreed to cut this demand by 50 cents an hour for a total wage package of $120.

A spokesman for Granite City's most Shippers by Rail said, "We will affect our truck shipments but we are arranging for other methods of shipment where possible." He pointed out, however, that the bulk of the plant's freight movements are by rail.

At A. O. Smith Corp., where operations have been shut down this week, a spokesman said the difficulty is anticipated when the plant reopens Monday since virtually all of inbound and outbound shipments are by rail.

The Union Division of Miles Laboratories reported that a continuation of the walkout could have some effect upon outgoing shipments, but that it had felt no effects of the strike thus far. Most of its freight movements also are by rail.

Carl Ranft, manager of the Tri-City Regional Port District said the strike had not hampered port operations at this point, but that some difficulty might be encountered next week which shipments of bulk fertilizer will become necessary to outlying points that can be reached only by truck. At present all shipments out of the port are by rail, he said.

Only School Board Opposition in GC

Election contests for Quad-City area school board memberships in the April 11 school election were limited to Granite City School District 12 election.

Withdrawal of James C. Childers, 1710 Sixth street, Madison, as a candidate in the Madison election leaves only three candidates in the race, eliminating any opposition for three board posts subject to election this year.

Board posts expiring in Madison are those of Chester McManaway, now board president; Harold Fisk and John Belkoff. McManaway and Fisk are seeking re-election. Belkoff did not file. Third candidate in the Madison board election is Sheriff Byrd, 506 Mercedia street, Venice.

Five candidates are seeking two board memberships open in the Granite City district. In Venice District 3 there is no opposition to incumbent board members Fred Durrer Jr. and Richard Bailey who are seeking re-election.

Bus Maintenance Award to Bi-State

Bi-State Transit System has again won the top award for bus maintenance efficiency in the transit industry. A plaque, symbolizing the award, was presented today to W. E. Williamson, general superintendent of maintenance for Bi-State Transit System at the Fleet Owner Awards dinner in Chicago.

This is the 23rd consecutive year that Bi-State Transit and its principal predecessor, the former St. Louis Public Service Co., have won the award, a distinction ranked as highest in the nation for bus maintenance efficiency.

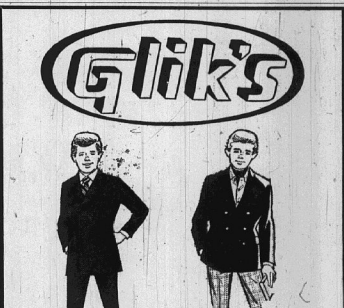

Competition for the award, which is sponsored by Fleet Owner, a leading trade journal for the bus and truck industry, is entered into by the major transit companies in the U.S. and Canada. The award is given for attaining a high level of maintenance at a cost in keeping with the demands of passenger service. Emphasis is placed on improvement of maintenance procedures and the methods and practices used to achieve them. The judging also takes into consideration the contractors' facilities and standards, and the results in safe and dependable fleet operation, coupled with good appearance of the vehicle.

pense in the administration account at the beginning of the hearing, which began shortly after 7 p.m.

One elector questioned, however, whether an administration item of $600 for office help would be sufficient, resulting in an increase of the budget figure to $780. Louis Whitsell, town clerk, said he believed the appropriation of $80 set for printing and publishing would be insufficient because state law now requires more official publications than in past years. On

Granite City PRESS-RECORD
Page 6 Thurs., April 2, 1970

Whitsell's motion this item was raised to $200.

Hanks was questioned as to the purpose of the transportation and travel item and he explained that it was used for reimbursing him for use of his own truck in township highway operations. The $300 increase in the appropriation was approved.

Drainage Fund
The major increase was voted in the permanent road fund to provide a $7500 appropriation as the township's share of the cost for installation of a 60-inch stormwater tile for drainage of the area east of Route 203 after it is widened and resurfaced by the State Highway department.

Edgar Patrick, town collector, and Supervisor Harry Briggs urged the appropriation be made so that the money would be available when the federal highway freeze is lifted and work of the Route 203 improvement begins.

The $7500 would be matched with a similar amount paid by the city of Granite City for installation of a stormwater tile larger than called for in the state's highway construction plan. The state planned to install a 42-inch tile, but Mayor Donald Partney of Granite City requested a larger tile be used to provide greater drainage facilities.

Town Benefits Greater

Both Patrick and Briggs pointed out in Tuesday's hearing that Nameoki would receive the greater benefits from the larger stormwater line and that the township should not hesitate to have its appropriation available when the work begins.

The electors also raised from $2000 to $2500 the amount for Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund payments after Hanks explained that the rate had been increased since the budget first was prepared.

At the insistence of several members of the audience, the $7500 appropriation for the Route 203 stormwater line was designated as a special account to assure the funds would be spent for no other purpose. The changes in the permanent road fund brought the total budget to $45,000 from the original $37,000.

Town Hearing Brief

Approval of the town fund and general assistance fund budgets in a separate hearing conducted by Whitsell took only a few minutes. Whitsell read a few budget items, calling for discussion on each. In response to questions concerning the higher assistance fund budget, he explained the higher budget results from listing projected expenses of funds received by the state which had not been done in the past. The tax extension for assistance purposes will remain unchanged, he said. Whitsell said that with balances the town fund now has, plus revenue during the ensuing year, the township expects total income of about $92,531.

Budget expenditures of $96,240, assuming all expenditures are made, would leave a year-end balance of $36,291. The general assistance fund is expected to have total revenue of $81,888 and end the year with a $1508 balance if all projected expenditures are made, the clerk added.

The township's fiscal year is from March 15 this year to March 14, 1971. Fiscal year of the township highway department is Sept. 1 this year to Aug. 31, 1971.

The Nameoki township annual meeting in which the budgets will be given final approval and a new tax levy adopted will be held April 14 in the Long Lake fire hall at Pontoon Beach, Whitsell announced.

New Camping Fees Set at State Parks

New camping fees in Illinois State Parks have been announced by conservation department officials. Four parks with Class A sites charge $3 a night.

They are Illinois Beach, Black Hawk, New Salem and Pere Marquette.

A daily fee of $2 is charged at Class B sites, those having vehicular access. Only tent campers may use Class C sites, where the fee is $1.

Construction of Camp A sites is scheduled for 18 parks during the spring and summer.

$100 Penalty For Abandoning Autos

More than 9000 automobiles were reported abandoned along Illinois highways in 1969 and another 600 were reported during the first two months of this year, according to State Police. Effective July 1, owners who abandon their cars on public thoroughfares will be penalized up to $100 and held responsible for towing and storage costs. Another law, effective July 1, reduces the time to notify last-known owners to 10 days before abandoned cars more than seven years old are declared "junk."

MORE ABOUT Assessment

for billing purposes in tax extensions.

Any householder who ignores the notice and fails to contact the deputy assessor or complete the assessment and exemption forms, the assessor said, not only will be assessed as usual, but will suffer an added penalty. In these cases the assessors office, lacking information from or contact with the householder, makes the assessment on the basis of past figures and adds a 50% penalty.

The household furniture and auto exemption is permitted under legislation adopted by the General Assembly in 1969. It is in addition to the $500 real estate "homestead" exemption allowed property owners 65 years of age or older which also will be effective for 1970 tax bills collected in 1971.

Completing Homestead Forms
The assessors' offices in the Quad-Cities and throughout the county were completing work on the homestead exemption forms this week. Tuesday was the deadline for filing the forms for that exemption which could be claimed only by senior citizens on property which they own and which they occupy.

According to the township assessors, the household of furniture to be exempted must be used for personal living purposes by the owner at his residence. The auto must be a personal pleasure car. A pick-up truck or other truck cannot be exempted.

Furniture in a rented furnished room or apartment is not exempt, but a tenant or a roomer owning and using his own furniture qualifies for the exemption. Furniture of a person living in a mobile home is exempted.

The assessors said that a person who lives in a furnished room and who owns a car would not have a furnishings exemption, but would receive an exemption on the car.

Barton pointed out that in cases where more than one car in the same family is involved, it is up to the householder to determine which car shall be exempted. He said that in a case where a son or daughter lives at home with the parents but is otherwise independent of them, an automobile owned by them would not be exempt if the parents filed for an exemption.

If one or more persons share an apartment and each owns one car, only one auto would be exempted, the assessor explained. Should a question arise over which car is to be exempted, the problem is to be settled by the persons sharing the apartment, it was noted. Township assessors warned forms.

Conduct Charge Filed
Thomas Easler, 20, of 66 University drive, Mitchell, was charged with disorderly conduct after he was arrested at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday at the Red Barn restaurant, 3030 Madison avenue. He was released on $25 cash bail pending a hearing on April 28.

that housewives who are the ones most likely to be at home when the deputy assessors call should obtain the license number of the car that is to be exempted. This information is to be required on the exemption form and is new to all assessing forms.

Creighton University Alumni Party Planned

Two administrators will represent the university at the St. Louis meeting. Guests from the university will be Rev. James E. Fitzgerald, S.J., assistant to the vice-president for university

Boyles, Monahan Spark 4-2 Baseball Triumph

Jeff Boyles pitched a 4-2 victory for GCHS at Wood River Tuesday. Today at 4 p.m., the Warriors play at Alton, with Ned Tapp starting and Ron "Deacon" Simpson available to relieve. Quincy will visit Granite City for a doubleheader in Wilson Park at 11 a.m. Saturday. Against the Oilers, Boyles fanned eight and walked one, allowing four hits. He gave up one earned run in the first and an unearned tally in the second. Warriors crossed the plate in the first and three times in the fifth. Jerry Monahan led off with a single, taking second on an overthrow at first. He went to third on a wild pitch and scored on a sacrifice fly by Rich Schardan. In the fifth, Boyles walked. Monahan hit into a fielder's choice and he and Boyles were both safe on an error. Schardan singled for an RBI. Don Harris then singled for two runs. Other GCHS hits: Gary Willis

13 Young Men Join Hospital Volunteers

In their new roles as Candy Striper volunteers, 13 young men began yesterday to perform a multitude of assorted tasks at St. Elizabeth Hospital by assisting patients and members of the hospital staff.

Prior to starting floor duty Wednesday, the boys attended three orientation sessions, held earlier this week in the Tri-Cor Medical Building, to acquaint them with various assignments and personal conduct expected of youthful volunteers.

Mrs. Louise Sedlack, director of volunteers, conducted the briefings, assisted by Tom Harmon, Sonnie Puhse, Connie Edwards, Lynn Whaley and Rita Black, all Candy Stripers at the local hospital. The newcomers comprise one of the first-all-boy groups to start at St. Elizabeth.

Former GC Resident Injured Critically

Miss Janis Zamaroni, 18, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zamaroni of Belleville, formerly of Granite City, remains in critical condition at Erlanger Hospital, Chattanooga, Tenn., with injuries resulting from a one-car accident, occurring Monday on the outskirts of Chattanooga.

A niece of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spengler, 3686 Terrace lane and a freshman student at Illinois State University, at Normal, Miss Zamaroni was en route home from Daytona, Fla., when the accident happened. She had spent a brief holiday at the resort town during Easter recess with three girl friends, who were passengers in the auto.

Local relatives said that Miss Zamaroni's companions were less seriously injured in the crash and have since been released from the hospital. The vehicle apparently went out of control and rolled over, throwing Miss Zamaroni, the driver, onto the highway.

She underwent surgery Tuesday to correct excessive hemorrhaging. This morning, her condition was considered slightly improved, although she still remains unconscious. Most of her injuries are centered in the base of the skull and back areas. Prior to the operation, she had required more than 11 pints of blood, her uncle said.

Miss Zamaroni's parents and Mrs. Spengler are in Chattanooga and will remain at the hospital until the student is out of danger, Spengler said.

Auto Skids, Collides

When Steven L. Hamilton, 26, of Angela drive, applied his brakes on wet pavement, his auto crossed into oncoming traffic, collided with a car driven by Edward J. Meng, 364 Madison avenue, and drove onto the sidewalk in front of the main post office in the west block of Madison avenue at 3:35 p.m. Wednesday.

Two Radar Arrests

Speeding tickets were issued to Ray F. Rodgers, 6132 Bond road, and Robert E. Browning, 1521 Fourth street, Madison, at about 1:30 a.m. Wednesday as police operated a radar unit at 2500 Madison avenue.

Madison's baseballers were battered 8-3 at Roxana in a Midwest Conference game Tuesday. But they look forward to another league fight at 4 p.m. Friday with Quad at MHS.

Righthander Jake Harmon will start on the mound for Madison. Tough leftlander Don Sonnenberg will hurt for the Knights.

Roxana got three runs in four hits in the second inning and added one run in the third, three in the fourth and one in the fifth, leaving the Trojans to rally belatedly in the final frames.

Righthander Paul Schwabe fanned nine Trojans, walked none and was touched for six hits.

Thieves Attempt to Steal Copper at Firm

Someone attempted to steal seven-strand copper wire on a spool in the yard at the R. Dron Electrical Co., 1818 Cleveland blvd., during the night, it was reported at 7:35 a.m. today.

The spool was on a truck parked adjacent to the building, and the wire had been strung out the entire length of the yard. The thieves, who had to climb a seven-foot fence to gain access, apparently were frightened away. Nothing was missing.

A 1964 auto stolen from Dennis Martin, 2136 Robert avenue, after 9:45 p.m. Monday, was found at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday by Madison police. It had been at a shop at Nameoki road and Lincoln avenue for repairs but was driveable.

Ora Henson, 2713 West 22nd street, reported at 2:30 p.m. Monday that his 1967 auto was stolen from his home. It was recovered by the owner at West 20th street and Illinois avenue at 4:25 p.m.

Leasing Restrictions Set by Pontoon Board

A restriction which prohibits issuance of new leases for apartments on mobile home parking places in the Gaslight Walk and Lakeshire subdivision was authorized last night by the Pontoon Beach village board of trustees.

The new leasing restriction, effective immediately, will remain in force until specific corrections are made to a lagoon sewer system which serves the area, Thomas Stalcoff, village president said today. The property and apartment complex is owned and operated by Jim Green Construction Co. Green told the Press-Record the corrections should be made in two weeks.

Stalcoff said the action was taken after the officials of the State Sanitary Water Board informed village authorities that corrective measures must be initiated immediately by the property owner to prevent a serious health hazard from developing.

The state board noted that during an inspection of the lagoon site in February, it was found the system was seriously overloaded for the number of individual apartments it serves. A letter received from the state board March 16, outlined a series of steps to be taken to remedy the situation.

Stalcoff said the letter informed Green that additional chemicals must be added to the system's aeration system installed which will almost double the lagoon's present capacity and a set of new plans to upgrade the system must be submitted to the state board for approval.

The village officer said the restriction placed on further property rental came under authority granted the board by the public nuisance ordinance. Stalcoff also serves as chairman of the village board of health.

Traffic Ticket Issued
Thomas O. Boatman, 2317 Willow avenue, was ticketed at 5 p.m. Wednesday for crossing private property to avoid traffic at Jill avenue and Nameoki road.

If you're not a Bourbon drinker, it's only because you haven't tasted Old Fitz.

There's only one sure way to tell if you like Bourbon. And that's to try Old Fitzgerald.

Why? Because we season it with just a "whisper of wheat," instead of the rye commonly used in other Bourbons.

That's what gives it such a mellow, nut-sweet taste so different from all the rest.

No wonder people who drink Old Fitzgerald say they don't know any better.

Tavern License Hearing Set; Seek 1 A.M. Closing

A liquor license hearing will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday by acting Mayor Raymond Kozielek as Madison city liquor control commissioner relating to possible suspension or revocation of the license of John E. Lewis, operator of Johnny Lewis' tavern at Fourth and Madison avenue.

Lewis is charged with selling alcoholic liquors to a minor, Donald Herbert Heiple, 20, of St. Louis, who allegedly purchased four six-packs of beer at the tavern early last Saturday.

The tavern had been reopened the day before following a four-day suspension imposed by Mayor Kozielek for alleged improper conduct.

Lewis is scheduled for a magistrate court hearing on the sales charge on April 8. He posted $25 cash bail.

Frequent late-night disturbances at and near the tavern prompted Mayor Kozielek, he said, to call for "serious consideration" by the city council of a change from the current 4 a.m. tavern closing hour in Madison.

At a city council meeting Tuesday night, he recommended that tavern hours in the city be changed to 1 a.m. closing hour (2 a.m. Saturday nights) in conformity with those in surrounding areas. No action was taken.

Kozielek said that middle-of-the-night tavern disturbances in the city are putting a strain on the police department budget, which he said is soaring in the face of a "very grave" fiscal position within the city.

AF Sgt. David Richey With Outstanding Unit

Sgt. David L. Richey, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester M. Richey, 2716 Namski road, is a member of a unit in Vietnam which has earned the U.S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award with "V" device for valor.

The 187th Communications Squadron at Bien Hoa AB, Vietnam, was cited for meritorious service from July 1968 to June 1969 for its support of U.S. and Republic of Vietnam Air Force units in launching air strikes against the enemy.

Bids April 20 on Lake Grade School Addition

A bid deadline of 7:30 p.m. Monday, April 20, has been set for proposals on construction of a special education classroom addition to Lake elementary school.

Plans and specifications for the six-room addition will be available beginning at noon tomorrow at the Gabriel-Dulger architectural office, General construction, plumbing, heating and ventilating, and electrical work will be included under one contract.

The bids will be opened at the school board office, 20th and Adams streets, at the start of a board meeting scheduled that night.

The school district is stipulating that the work be completed and the addition made ready for occupancy by Sept. 1.

Conventional construction is planned. At one time, use of steel walls for the project had been considered.

The decree, signed March 30, was granted to the father, Lawrence Wayne Newman, who is to pay child support of $15 per week, rather than as reported in Monday's issue.

Gen. Goodpaster Wins Honors

A former McKendree College student has been named one of "The 100 Most Important People in the World" in the April issue of Esquire magazine.

Governor Calls for 1971 Budget of $4.9 Billions

A new record state budget of $4,947,682,000—more than a half billion dollars higher than that adopted in 1969—was requested by Illinois Governor Ogilvie yesterday in a budget message to a joint session of the House and Senate which marked the opening of the 1970 legislative session at Springfield.

The new budget calls for more state funds for school and governing bodies in local communities, and in what may become the most controversial issue of the financial program also calls for $29 million in aid for non-public grade and high schools. Appropriations recommended for some of the state agencies, however, were less than those of last year.

Education costs, including budgets of public universities and colleges, would require about 58% of the projected revenue. A proposed revision of the state support formula for public schools would guarantee each school district a minimum of $530 per year for each pupil, an increase from the present $320.

Would Purchase Services

The governor told General Assembly legislators that aid to non-public schools would be made through state purchase of services from private schools.

"Failure to provide funds this year (for non-public schools) for some of the state agencies, such as the state police, would be a catastrophe for Illinois taxpayers, increasing the cost of education by $400 millions a year."

He called for abolition of the personal property tax which he said is the "most hated and most unfair in the state," but also called for a political gimmick.

They pointed out the same objection was accomplished next November by voter approval of a constitutional amendment. Ogilvie, however, contended it would not be unconstitutional for the legislature to repeal the personal property levy immediately.

The governor asked $15 million immediately to overhaul the anti-pollution control program by financing greater monitoring and surveillance of pollution, recruitment of more personnel and establishment of several new agencies. These would replace existing air pollution control bodies and others responsible for combating dirty air and water.

Seeks Bond Vote

He also asked authority to call a referendum on a $750,000,000 bond issue to help Illinois communities upgrade sewage treatment facilities.

The governor's proposed budget also calls for an appropriation of $90,000 to finance completion of studies for new major airports in the Madison-St. Clair county area and in the Chicago area.

Democratic legislators, however, have charged the Republican administration with a slow pace in the airport project for the Madison-St. Clair area and threaten to introduce bills to speed up the project by using $10 million dollar appropriation to finance land acquisitions.

Of the $4,947,682,000 in proposed expenditures, about $3,455,000,000 would come from state taxes, including the income tax adopted last year, and an additional $1,171,000,000 would come from federal aid, the governor said.

Injured GC Soldier At Missouri Hospital

Army Pfc William E. Brooks, 23, burned seriously about the head and face March 8 in Vietnam when a grenade in a container detonated near a bunker in front of him, is now a patient at U. S. Gen. Leonard Wood Hospital, Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Arndell E. Brooks, 4521 Walter avenue, the soldier was evacuated by plane from a military hospital in Japan and arrived at Scott Air Force Base Air-Evac Hospital Wednesday and was moved to the Fort Leonard Wood facility on Friday.

Pfc Brooks was visited briefly at Scott AFB by his family, who also traveled to Fort Leonard Wood to spend last week-end with him at the Army base. "He is feeling pretty good and is in good spirits," Mrs. Brooks said this week.

She reported her son will be hospitalized for an indefinite period and that when therapy shortly will be started to speed his recovery. "His injuries could be severe," the mother said, adding that the family was relieved to see him in as "good condition as he appears."

The Brooks were advised March 10 by Army authorities that their son's condition was of "such severity that there is cause for concern." The serviceman was placed on the seriously ill list at a military hospital in Vietnam.

"Bill wanted us to thank everyone for the cards and letters he received in Japan. Although he is unable to write because of the injuries, he certainly enjoys hearing from people," the mother commented. Mrs. Brooks said authorities

Plan Commission Meets Next Week

The City Plan Commission will meet at 1:15 p.m. next Thursday to hear three petitions for zoning change requests. Charles L. and Sandra J. White are seeking a change from R-3 residential to C-1 commercial for a pet and supply shop at 2219 East 23rd street, while Richard Breucker seeks a change from R-5 residential to C-1 commercial for a beauty shop at 1934 Benton street.

The third request is from John and Charlotte Sobol for a change from C-1 commercial to a special use permit to locate a car wash at 1515-23 Pontoon road.

At the Missouri base talked with the parents concerning the recent meningitis epidemic at the training center, reassuring them that every precaution has been taken to halt the spread of the disease and that the situation at the base is now normal.

Pfc Brooks was assigned to Vietnam last June and was stationed with a 9th Artillery unit in the vicinity of Tay Ninh, near the Cambodian border, when injured. He entered the Army on Jan. 24, 1969. He is a former employee of Olin Matheson Corp. and attended Granite City high school.

Friends may write the serviceman at: Pfc. William E. Brooks, 350-36-6990, U. S. Gen. Leonard Wood Hospital, Room 621, Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. 65473.

Landfill Dispute Viewed by County Zoning Official

Jack Clifford, Madison county building and zoning official assigned of using under influence in Chouteau Island landfill operations, claimed today that he was a go-between for two firms vying for the landfill site.

He said he had been asked by Kenneth Harbarger, a partner in the MAL landfill on Chouteau Island, to arrange an introduction with Sam Murphy, owner of the former Chouteau Island Corp. landfill site which is adjacent.

Clifford said Harbarger wanted to negotiate a purchase or a lease of the property, and a meeting between the two parties was held last summer at the Ramada Inn off Interstate 270 in St. Louis county.

A transaction failed to evolve, and the Chouteau Island Corp. currently is in litigation to obtain a county permit to reopen its old landfill.

Clifford, who formerly served as sanitation official along with his building and zoning duties, pointed out that he had resigned as sanitation official effective Sept. 15, 1968.

Since that time, he said he has had no other dealings with either of the landfill firms, and has obtained an opinion from the state's attorney's office that he was not jurisdictional in the matter in the landfill problem.

He added that because of lack of jurisdiction, he could not advise a party to a municipal suit filed by the Chouteau Island Corp. to force the sanitation department to issue a permit.

A hearing on the suit is set for 9:30 a.m. April 13 in Madison county circuit court, where the issue is expected to be settled.

A recent report by county officials to have been made by the Madison county circuit court, which was denied by Circuit Judge William Beatty.

The sanitation committee of the county board of supervisors is attempting to prevent the reopening of the old landfill because it has been closed two years ago by the state and county for numerous violations in its operations.

The committee also is responding to long, harsh criticisms of Chouteau township and Madison county residents that the county is being used as a dumping ground by St. Louis county.

GC Depot Payroll Loss, Hopes Here Outlined at Meet

Closing of the Granite City Army Depot is not only a government matter but a community problem here, according to Howard Colquitt, executive secretary of the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce.

Speaking to representatives of veterans organizations at a meeting Wednesday night at the VFW Post 1300 hall, Colquitt stressed the economic impact on the community, stating that 51% of a $10 million annual payroll remained in the community.

He also noted that the annual summer work program for the hard core unemployed will be discontinued if the depot is closed by July 1971 as planned.

Colquitt agreed with other viewers that the decision to phase out the operation here was political and remarked that the federal government was cutting out jobs in the operations in the state of Illinois.

Contacts Person He said he recently contacted the American Legion and asked what effect the federal cutback had in Sen. Mendell's office. He said he was told that the federal government was cutting out jobs in the operations in the state of Illinois.

Shop for House With Needs in Mind

Before you start house-hunting, take time to consider your family's actual needs. And then use a check list to help you decide whether a house meets your needs.

Here are some suggestions to help you judge location, exterior appearance, interior arrangement and the quality of construction.

—Neighborhood: Is the area accessible to work, playgrounds, church and stores? Will the location necessitate a second car? How old is the house? How old are the owners? How well are other homes maintained? What is the condition of playgrounds in the area? What is the traffic situation?

—Size of house: Does the amount of space fit the family's size, possessions and activities?

—Space arrangement: Can you get from one room to another without going through the middle of a room? Is there a front entrance hall? Is there easy access to front and back doors?

—Storage: Is there adequate storage in the living, sleeping and work areas?

—Construction: Is there evidence of excess moisture or water seepage in the basement? If the basement is unfinished, check on the soundness of the structure. If you are inexperienced in judging construction, get advice from a professional in the housing business. Are there any cracks in the plaster or masonry? What is the indication of water condensation around windows? Are the floors firm?

—Heating, lighting and plumbing systems: Is the heating system in good condition and does it represent the best value? Are the fuel bills last season? Is the plumbing in good condition? Are pipes noisy when the water is turned on? Is the electrical system adequate?

—Exterior design: Does the house have pleasing appearance? Is the roof in good condition? A sagging roof line usually indicates structural problems. Is the foundation adequate support. Observe roofing and siding materials and consider the local climate.

Since a very few houses will have all the characteristics you desire, you must make a decision as to what is most important to you and your family.

Although families can make their own decisions, it is helpful to have a professional evaluate the house. A professional can consult a lawyer about legal matters.

Selecting Scissors Every home has seamstress scissors. But many do not know how to select and care for them properly.

Best quality shears and scissors are made of hot-tempered steel. The blades are hardened and tempered to give a sharp edge, and nickel or chrome plating prevents rusting.

When shopping for scissors, check to see that the blades are joined with a steel screw. The blades should be straight and close the blades to be certain they come together firmly and smoothly. When operated rapidly, the blades should give off a high-pitched metallic sound, which is an indication of good quality.

The home seamstress should be familiar with four kinds of scissors for specific uses: dressmaker's, embroidery or buttonhole scissors and pinning shears.

Dressmaker's scissors are basic for home sewing. The seven- or eight-inch shears are easy to use and heavy enough to cut most fabrics. Select a good brand with handles that fit your hand comfortably to avoid cramping the fingers while using the shears. The blades should come together at the points, but a small gap between the blades is acceptable. If the handles of the shears are bent, you will be able to cut fabric without the blades being able to open. The lower blade will slide easily along the cutting surface, giving you the full length of the cutting edge.

General sewing scissors are from six inches long. They cut medium thin blades with one sharp point and one round point to make trimming easier. They should be the same size as the dressmaker's scissors. Use them most often at the sewing machine for cutting threads and trimming seam allowances.

Embroidery or buttonhole scissors measure 3½ or four inches long. They have double sharp points and ring handles of the same size. They are used for precise cutting and snipping jobs in small areas of a garment.

Pinning shears are used for finishing seams of materials that will not ravel easily. They will not be needed in a washing machine. They should be —Neighborhood: Is the area accessible to work, playgrounds, church and stores? Will the location necessitate a second car? How old is the house? How old are the owners? How well are other homes maintained? What is the condition of playgrounds in the area? What is the traffic situation?

—Size of house: Does the amount of space fit the family's size, possessions and activities?

—Space arrangement: Can you get from one room to another without going through the middle of a room? Is there a front entrance hall? Is there easy access to front and back doors?

—Storage: Is there adequate storage in the living, sleeping and work areas?

—Construction: Is there evidence of excess moisture or water seepage in the basement? If the basement is unfinished, check on the soundness of the structure. If you are inexperienced in judging construction, get advice from a professional in the housing business. Are there any cracks in the plaster or masonry? What is the indication of water condensation around windows? Are the floors firm?

—Heating, lighting and plumbing systems: Is the heating system in good condition and does it represent the best value? Are the fuel bills last season? Is the plumbing in good condition? Are pipes noisy when the water is turned on? Is the electrical system adequate?

—Exterior design: Does the house have pleasing appearance? Is the roof in good condition? A sagging roof line usually indicates structural problems. Is the foundation adequate support. Observe roofing and siding materials and consider the local climate.

Since a very few houses will have all the characteristics you desire, you must make a decision as to what is most important to you and your family.

Although families can make their own decisions, it is helpful to have a professional evaluate the house. A professional can consult a lawyer about legal matters.

Selecting Scissors Every home has seamstress scissors. But many do not know how to select and care for them properly.

Best quality shears and scissors are made of hot-tempered steel. The blades are hardened and tempered to give a sharp edge, and nickel or chrome plating prevents rusting.

When shopping for scissors, check to see that the blades are joined with a steel screw. The blades should be straight and close the blades to be certain they come together firmly and smoothly. When operated rapidly, the blades should give off a high-pitched metallic sound, which is an indication of good quality.

The home seamstress should be familiar with four kinds of scissors for specific uses: dressmaker's, embroidery or buttonhole scissors and pinning shears.

Dressmaker's scissors are basic for home sewing. The seven- or eight-inch shears are easy to use and heavy enough to cut most fabrics. Select a good brand with handles that fit your hand comfortably to avoid cramping the fingers while using the shears. The blades should come together at the points, but a small gap between the blades is acceptable. If the handles of the shears are bent, you will be able to cut fabric without the blades being able to open. The lower blade will slide easily along the cutting surface, giving you the full length of the cutting edge.

General sewing scissors are from six inches long. They cut medium thin blades with one sharp point and one round point to make trimming easier. They should be the same size as the dressmaker's scissors. Use them most often at the sewing machine for cutting threads and trimming seam allowances.

Embroidery or buttonhole scissors measure 3½ or four inches long. They have double sharp points and ring handles of the same size. They are used for precise cutting and snipping jobs in small areas of a garment.

Pinning shears are used for finishing seams of materials that will not ravel easily. They will not be needed in a washing machine. They should be

Miss Tatjana Maria Kasantzogoloy of Granite City, a senior at the University of Missouri at Columbia, has been selected among the top 100 students in the U. Miss Kasantzogoloy will graduate with honors in history in June. She was selected earlier as a Woodrow Wilson delegate and her name was sent to graduate school deals with recommendation that she receive support for graduate studies.

Tickets Go on Sale For Music Festival

Tickets are now on sale for the Intercollegiate Music Festival to be held April 18 and 19 at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern.

This is one of six regional festivals held in as many different areas of the United States. Finalists from each of the regional competitions will compete for national honors in the finals on Sunday at 8 August. Initially more than 1500 acts auditioned for spots in the regional shows this year.

The two-day regional will feature 15 folk and pop groups. The competition, open to the public, will be held in Meridian ballroom of the University Center.

Half of the groups will perform at a 2 p.m. session Saturday, April 18, and the other half at the 8 p.m. session that same day. From these two sessions three regional judges will select three groups of pop artists and folk artists to compete in the finals on Sunday at 8 p.m.

Ticket prices for each of the three sessions will be one dollar and tickets may be purchased at the information desk in the University Center. Tickets may also be purchased at the door for each session.

30,000 4-H Members In Safety Campaigns

An estimated 30,000 Illinois 4-H Club members are concentrating on making their towns, neighborhoods, homes and farms safer places in which to live, work and play, reports the National 4-H Service Committee.

Individual projects cover a wide range of accident prevention on highways, in sports, camping, use of machinery, appliances and the like. The projects benefit a vast number of men, women and children throughout the state. Just the 4-H families alone could add up to well over a hundred thousand.

The 4-H youths are working safety projects as part of the national 4-H safety program in which they are enrolled. Supervision of activities and projects is a function of the Cooperative Extension Service of the University of Illinois. The program, now in its 26th year, is supported by General Motors.

Annual incentive awards are provided by GM for members. Gold-filled medals await four outstanding projects at the county level, and a trip to the 1970 national 4-H Congress in Chicago will go to the top state award winner.

National scholarships of $1000 each will be presented to the eight highest ranking safety members from throughout the 50 states and Puerto Rico.

While all of Illinois' 76,000 4-H members practice safety in day-to-day tasks, those enrolled in the 1970 safety program carry the ball so far as planned activities, exhibits, shows, and the like are concerned.

More information about joining 4-H and starting a safety project can be obtained from the county extension home or agricultural adviser.

State Group Sees Need For Some Deferments

The Illinois Youth Advisory Committee has recommended that occupational and agricultural draft deferments be continued under the discretion of local Selective Service boards. The committee said each local board has an awareness of the need for occupational deferments necessary for community interest and well-being, and authority of the local board will help it to retain its flexibility.

The agricultural classification was deemed essential as the average Illinois farmer is 56 years old and necessary youth input must continue if productive farming is to take place. This deferment would be available only to youths actually engaged in full-time work on the farm, and the farm must be producing in the national interest.

Persons wishing to make their feelings known to the committee may send their comments to the Illinois Youth Advisory Committee, c/o Illinois Headquarters, Selective Service System, 406 East Washington street, Springfield, Ill. 62701. The committee previously recommended that all student deferments be phased out.

Administration Course For Pre-School Center

Students taking a class at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern this spring in "Administration of Pre-School Centers" will be getting first hand information.

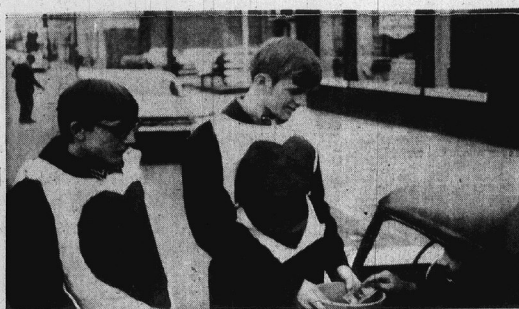

Faculty member Robert Rockwell of SIU-SW has announced a series of eight lectures for the class. All the guest speakers hold administrative positions with state or local day care centers.

Rockwell, who heads SIU-SW's two-year associate in arts degree program and teaches the class points out that all facets of administration of a child care center will be covered, from keeping records and purchasing of equipment to planning curriculum and personnel relationships.

The four-quarter hour credit class is a requirement for the associate in arts degree in child care services. It is, however, open to anyone interested in the day care field and who meets University admissions requirements. Class sessions are held in the Peck Building. SIU-SW is one of the few universities that offers special training in day care. The program is operated under the Division of Technical and Adult Education.

Busy Field Work Time For County's Farmers

Farmers soon will face a large amount of field work that must be done in a short period of time. It was pointed out this week by Warren W. Bundy, Madison county extension adviser at Edwardsville.

Supplies of seed, fertilizer, fuel and chemicals have been ordered, tractors and equipment repaired, and, hopefully, all safety shields are in place.

Timeliness in getting field work done and crops planted early is one important step toward high crop yields.

Bad weather, wet fields and machinery breakdowns can lead to critical delays. To catch up, many farmers hire a neighbor to give them a hand. Other farmers, when their own work is done, hire out to a neighbor.

"In either case, two questions arise. How much do you charge and how much do you pay for custom work?" Bundy asked.

There is no hard and fast rule for setting custom work rates. One way is to check what other custom operators charge and what farmers pay.

U. of I. survey
U. of I. agricultural economists surveyed Illinois farmers and custom machine operators to find out what they paid, or charged, for custom work in 1968. Farmers' answers, outlined in "Custom Rates and Machine Rental Rates Used on Illinois Farms," Extension Circular 1065, show that custom rates increased slightly from those reported in a 1966 survey.

The report breaks down custom hire charges by type of operation and gives the common rate and the usual range in charges for the state and for specific regions, within the state.

The range shown for each operation indicates that custom rates vary considerably within an area. One reason for the variation is the length of time needed to do the job. Topography, field size and shape, and soil and weather conditions all influence time requirements.

Competition within an area also affects the range of prices.

If many machines are available for hire in an area, rates will be lower.

The custom rates report, Circular 1065, is available at the County Extension Office.

Wild Garlic Problem
Wild garlic and wild onions are a problem in several fields in Madison county. The weeds can be eliminated with a three or four year control program of spraying corn and soybean stubbles annually in early spring.

Two to three pounds of 2,4-D active ingredient per acre is suggested. Delay plowing treated fields for at least three weeks.

Wild garlic produces bulbils on the top of the plants. Those bulbils harvested along with the wheat results in a price discount. A few dollars invested in 2,4-D now may save many dollars in wheat discounts this summer.

One-half pound of the ester form of 2,4-D will help eliminate "garlic wheat" at harvest time. The ester will be slightly reduced wheat yields and will destroy any legume underseeded. Legume seedling should be delayed three weeks after the 2,4-D treatment.

Only about 30 to 50% of the wild onion or garlic will be killed, but the remaining plants will be so distorted that the grain headed with pass may be better.

The 2,4-D treatment should be made the first week in April. Treatment is not effective if it is delayed until the end of April.

The reduced rate of 2,4-D recommended on wheat is necessary to avoid severe damage to the wheat.

Sheep Day Program
Sheep producers are invited to the annual Southwestern Illinois Sheep Day program Saturday, April 4, at 9:30 a.m. It will be in the Turkey Hill Grange located two miles southeast of Belleville on Route 460.

The program will begin with demonstrations on blocking, shearing and trimming and a judging contest. 4-H and FFA members having sheep projects are especially invited to attend and participate.

Highlights of the day's program will be a sheep dog exhibition by Arthur Allen of McLeansboro, Ill., a lamb carcass show, a barbecued lamb lunch, and discussion on outlook, nutrition, management and practical health. A round-table discussion with a panel of experts from all phases of the sheep industry will conclude the program.

April 30 Deadline for Truck Plate Assignment
Secretary of State Paul Powell today reminded truck owners that the deadline for applying for reassignment of their current license numbers is Thursday, April 30. The law requires that the applications be received in the secretary of state's office on or before that date.

Most trucks are now licensed on a fiscal year basis, from July 1 through June 30, instead of the calendar year, as is the case with passenger cars. Assignment blanks are now available at notaries public, currency exchanges, dealers and similar outlets.

Educators, PTAs Invited To Telecourse Previews

About 2000 administrators, as well as PTA and other community group leaders, will have a chance to see what children in their school districts can learn by watching Kete's in-school telecourses for 1970-71 at special previews from 9 to 11 a.m. on Saturdays, April 11, 18, May 2 and 9, at Channel 9's studios.

The leaders, from school districts in Illinois, Missouri, and Iowa not yet using instructional television via KETE are invited to see excerpts of in-school series for the coming school year and accompanying program materials to be used by teachers. They may attend whichever session they desire.

Basil G. Murray, Kete's director of school services, has said the meetings also will outline plans for eight new in-school series to be produced by Kete for use in the coming school year.

The recent extension of Kete's signal via cable to 13 communities in the tri-state area and the planned extension to 21 others

Barry Gibbs, 13, of 2145 Lynch avenue, reported at 12:50 p.m. Monday that while he was riding his bicycle at 4000 Braden avenue, one of four teenage boys in a white station wagon approached him, made some comments and struck him twice on the left side of the face. He said the attacker then fell down, got up and left in the vehicle. Gibbs suffered a bruised cheek. He said he had never seen them before.

Slight Increase Expected In School Impact Aid Here

The compromise worked out by the Nixon administration and Congress will provide more federal "impact" financial aid to the Granite City school district than the $198,307 entitlement of last year.

The new total entitlement is $229,042, with payment to be made according to availability of funds. Last year, funding was at the 90% level. Aid is given under Public Law 874 to districts where the enrollment feels the impact of families headed by individuals employed at non-paying federal installations. The funds are for operation and maintenance of schools.

The Granite City district also has received impact money for construction under Public Law 815. But in recent years it has not had a sufficient number of qualifying students to obtain more than the $198,307 entitlement of last year.

Public instruction for processing.

In a separate program, Title III of the National Defense Education Act, the Granite City district is seeking $46,894 for 1970-71, including $11,999 for science projects, $10,588 English and reading, $21,453 industrial arts, $7706 social studies, $4184 mathematics and $3250, foreign languages.

The requested funds would cover equipment and materials under the categories of capital outlay, instructional materials and supplemental books.

Last year, $58,891 was sought under NDEA Title III, including $17,432 in supplemental applications permitted in the late spring of 1969 for reading and industrial arts equipment.

The reimbursement rate a year ago was 45%.

Under Title II of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, the district expects to receive $14,256, the same as last year. Total reimbursement is received from the U. S. for acquisition of library materials listed in the federal authorization.

Dr. Felicia Koch, Madison county health advisor for the March of the Dimes, and Milton Morris, chairman for the Quad-City area, were the featured speakers Tuesday at the Granite City Rotary Club luncheon meeting in the YMCA.

The program was opened with a film on birth defects, followed by a discussion. Morris told of the work of the organization in securing the measles vaccine used in this area for the benefit of school children.

Oscar Greathouse was program chairman and introduced the guest speakers.

Carl Mathias, president, presided at the business meeting and all members agreed to assist William Fuchs with his expenses in attending the National AAU wrestling meet on April 16 in Lincoln, Neb.

Fuchs was the state champion in 1967 and an outstanding wrestling competitor while attending Granite City high school.

The 115-pound wrestler has hopes of being selected for the team which will compete in the World Olympic games in 1972. Since graduating from the local high school Fuchs has attended Illinois State University at Normal, Purdue University and Florissant Junior College.

He is now waiting for final orders to leave for a tour of duty with the U. S. Navy.

Through fund-raising drives and individual pledges, the church members have been working for the past 4½ years to secure funds for the building of a new building.

Demos, GOP In 'Harmony' In Election of Officers

Democratic and Republican Precinct Committees of Madison county reorganized their respective county central committees at Edwardsville Monday night in separate conventions marked by a display of harmony in the election of all officers by acclamation in both meetings.

Officers who will serve the two county central committees during the next two years were nominated without opposition and elected by unanimous vote in both the Democratic and Republican convention sessions. The committees are made up of precinct committeemen, one for each party in each voting precinct throughout the county, who are elected in the primary balloting every two years.

Democratic Re-elected Walter T. "Buck" Simmons to his sixth consecutive term as county chairman, and elected Sam Wolf, Precinct 23 of Granite City, as secretary-treasurer. Wolf succeeds James Chapman, chairman of the county recorder of deeds who had held the post many years. Chapman did not seek re-election.

Is Appellate Clerk Simmons is an associate of the Venice-Madison Democratic organization and presently is clerk of the Fifth District Appellate court. He also is the Democratic nominee for election to the clerk's post to serve a four-year unexpired term, subject to the general election next November. He is committeeman of Precinct One of Venice.

The Democrats elected no precinct chairmen after Simmons, who was elected assistant secretary, Leroy Kutz, Venice Precinct 20, was named assistant treasurer.

Summer Food Program For Needy Is Planned

Food Makes Their Summer Special" was launched this week in a campaign to help bring food to more needy children during summer 1970 according to an announcement by Dennis M. Doyle, Midwest regional director of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service.

The USDA's Special Food Service Program can provide food help to summer recreational or day care projects for children from low-income areas. The campaign is an effort to alert the directors of such projects and the public to the availability and benefits of this program.

Public and non-profit private institutions, such as child care centers, settlement houses and recreation centers, that provide day care for pre-school children from low-income areas or from areas with many working mothers, are eligible to participate. Day camps and similar recreational programs conducted during the summer for low-income children from pre-school age through 21 years are also eligible.

USDA supplies money for food purchases, donated foods, and assistance and guidance to establish and operate a program and financial help to buy or rent necessary equipment.

History of Madison County Related in Report

(Ninth of a Series)

Among the first American settlers in Madison county were men who had accompanied George Rogers Clark on a military expedition into Illinois in 1779, according to a brief history of the county included in the new land use and transportation report by the Southern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission.

These men were given land grants of 300 acres for their service, and upon completion of their enlistments in 1781, they started migrating via the Ohio and Mississippi rivers to Illinois to claim their land.

One of the early pioneers was Rev. David Bagley, a Baptist preacher who came to Illinois in 1786. Though he served extensively throughout the county, he resided in Belleville, and some public buildings, Alton then had a very small population.

Only one public road was in existence. It is northeastern terminus seems to have been Thomas Kirkpatrick's mill and, passing southwest via Judy's place and Indian fort on Cahoon creek, it connected the old French settlement of Cahokia with the later settlements in Madison county.

Southern Settlers The population of the county in 1818 was principally composed of American settlers from the southern states, a few New Yorkers, some New Englanders and quite a number of what was to become Edwardsville. It was this house that was appointed the seat of justice of the county in Gov. Edwards' proclamation in 1812. Edwardsville then became the county seat and is listed as the third oldest city in the state.

Indian Treaty After the war of 1812 ended, settlement of the county increased rapidly. A treaty of peace with Indian tribes of the northwest was concluded in October 1815. Immigrants from older states, who had been deterred from coming to Illinois by reason of the Indian hostilities, now poured into the county and soon took possession of the unsettled parts.

In 1812, Edwardsville was the leading town within the county and contained about 50 dwellings, the U. S. land office, a bank and some public buildings. Alton then had a very small population.

Only one public road was in existence. It is northeastern terminus seems to have been Thomas Kirkpatrick's mill and, passing southwest via Judy's place and Indian fort on Cahoon creek, it connected the old French settlement of Cahokia with the later settlements in Madison county.

Pennsylvania Germans and Irish Americans.

The Canadian French had never been as important a factor in the population of the county as in neighboring St. Clair county. Blacks were quite numerous, principally slaves and indentured servants, and a few registered as free persons of color. In 1818 the population is estimated at 4000.

In November 1837 a financial crash swept over the country. General bankruptcy followed and the contemplated railroad schemes within the county were given up in favor of their location in St. Clair county.

By 1850, the majority of the public lands, with the exception of a few 40-acre tracts, had become the property of individuals and had been converted into thousands of acres of productive farm land.

New towns and villages had sprung up, while others already established before 1850 were thriving. They include Venice, Madison, Troy, Monticello, Highland, Collinsville, Wood River and Marine.

In 1880 there were eight manufacturing establishments in the county producing agricultural implements, plows and threshers. They employed 61 men, had an aggregate capital of $53,000 and turned out manufactured articles worth $63,000.

In 1880, Madison county ranked first in production of wheat in Illinois and fourth in the U. S. In orchard products, striking an average of all varieties of fruit, the county was second.

The growth of the county between 1840 and 1900 was fairly rapid. The population was reported at 14,433 in 1840, and by 1900 it had increased to 64,694.

During the period the county experienced a transformation from an agriculturally oriented economy to an industrially oriented one. Also, during the 1850s, railroads were built between most of the major cities of the county.

Scrapbook Compilation Starts for GC Teacher

A U. S. Senator, a State Representative and a local mayor are just three former students, among hundreds of youngsters, taught by a local school teacher who will retire in June after 41 years in the Granite City school system.

Miss Lucille Macleod, sixth grade teacher at Nameoki school, conceivably, could have instructed more than 1500 different children over the four decades she has spent in the local school district.

She joined the Granite City district in 1929 and held teaching posts at McKinley, Central and Niedringhaus schools before her assignment at Nameoki.

Her former pupils include U. S. Senator Ralph T. Smith, now of Alton; State Rep. James D. Holloway, now of Sparta, Ill., and Granite City Mayor Donald Parney.

Program May 19

In observance of Miss Macleod's pending retirement, a special program is planned by the Nameoki Parent-Teacher Association for Tuesday evening, May 19. It was announced this week.

Those responsible for arranging the observance event are compiling a large scrapbook to present to the retiree, Mrs. Cheryl Humphreys, PTA president.

Thomae Seeks Recount For GOP House Seat

Charles Thomae of Bethalto, who lost the race for state representative by 45 votes to Robert Walters in last month's primary election, is contesting the election in Madison county circuit court.

A hearing was set for 9 a.m. next Wednesday in courtroom No. 9 at the courthouse in Edwardsville. Circuit Judge Foss Meyer of Greenville was assigned to hear the case.

Thomae, former chairman of the Madison County Republican Central Committee, is seeking a recount of the even numbered precincts in Alton and Granite City townships except of Granite City Precinct 32.

Unofficial returns showed that Walters, of Alton, led Thomae by 404 votes. But the official canvass narrowed the margin to 45. Five candidates were on the ballot for representative, with one to be elected.

Thomae feels mistakes may have been made in counting the votes because of the cumulative voting system for state representatives.

Pamphlet on Jobs for Mature Women Issued

A step-by-step guide to help mature women prepare for and find employment has been issued by the U. S. Department of Labor.

"Jobfinding Techniques for Mature Women," prepared by the Women's Bureau, is designed to assist women in their middle years who wish to enter the work force for the first time; those going back to work once their homemaking responsibilities have lessened; and those planning to change jobs.

"One of the most striking changes in the composition of the labor force in the last decade is the increasing numbers of middle-aged and older women entering or re-entering the job market. In 1969 there were 11½ million women aged 45 and over either employed or looking for work. More than half of all women aged 45-54 were in the labor force in 1969, as were more than two-fifths of those aged 55-64," Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan Koon, director of the Women's Bureau, points out in the foreword.

The pamphlet explains how to do a self-inventory, prepare a resume, locate job leads and prepare a letter of application. It offers guides to an effective interview, and one section is devoted to training opportunities. A resource section also is included.

Do Federal Tax Form Before State Return

"Taxpayers must complete their federal tax return before they prepare their Illinois state income tax return," Ray G. Philpott, district director of Internal Revenue, said today.

"The reason is simple," he explained. "You must use the adjusted gross income figure from Page 1, line 15c of your Federal Form 1040 as a starting point for your state income tax return."

Philpott assured taxpayers that the Federal Form 1040 is not difficult to prepare. Every taxpayer starts with the basic one-page return then adds special schedules as needed. Separate schedules will be needed by taxpayers who itemize deductions, list dividends or interest if either is over $100; list capital gains, annuities and partnership income; or claim retirement income credit.

Philpott said, "Many taxpayers are under the impression they have to complete their state income tax return first to determine the amount of state tax they can deduct on their federal tax return. This is not true. The amount that can be deducted for state income tax is the amount that was actually paid or withheld in 1969. This would not include any additional amounts the taxpayer has to pay with his 1969 state income tax return, he added.

Philpott stressed filing returns before the deadline. "Most taxpayers who prepare their own returns do it on the weekend," he said. "And," he reminded taxpayers, "there's only two more weekends left before April 15 deadline." He urged taxpayers to file their returns before the deadline to avoid being penalized for filing a delinquent return.

Philpott emphasized six important steps for taxpayers to follow in the preparation of their federal tax return. They are: read the instructions carefully; use the pre-addressed tax form and envelope received in the 1969 tax package; furnish correct information; attach all W-2s; sign the return; and mail it to the Internal Revenue Service Center, Kansas City, Mo. 64170.

GC HS Band to Perform 8 P. M. Concert Today

The 1970 winter-spring series of public concerts will conclude tonight for the Granite City high school band with a performance in the local high school auditorium starting at eight o'clock.

Student musicians, however, will play two out-of-town concerts this spring. Louis E. Meek, GC HS band director announced today.

The youthful instrumentalists have been invited to perform a selection of Bach chorales at Powell Symphony Hall in St. Louis on Friday, April 24, prior to a regular concert scheduled by the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, and will entertain at a concert in Houston, Tex., during the band's annual spring tour through the southern states, May 4-9.

The current season will wind up officially tonight with a program of diversified selections, ranging from "Festive Overture" by Dmitri Shostakovich to "Beguine for Band," by Glenn Osler.

The concert is open to the public, with admission by seat ticket. Single performance tickets also will be available at the door immediately before the 8 p.m. starting time.

GC Marine Attains 2nd Fitness Award

For achieving a top score of 410 points out of a possible 500 points total, Marine Cpl. Michael W. Nizinski recently earned the Marine Barracks Physical Fitness Award at Great Lakes Naval Training Center for the second consecutive three-month period.

Cpl. Nizinski, 20, a son of Mrs. Ruth Nizinski, 2400 Edison avenue and the late Walter Nizinski of Granite City, attained the award in a five-event test, consisting of push-ups, 300-meter run, broad jump, sit-ups and squats.

Last October, the local Marine won the same award with a score of 443 points. A score of 288 is considered excellent, according to Col. J. R. Wayerski jr., Marine Barracks commanding officer, who presented the award.

Currently home on a 30-day leave, Cpl. Nizinski will depart in late April for Vietnam, where he has volunteered to serve a second tour of duty. His initial tour was terminated abruptly last April when he returned home due to the death of his father, after serving overseas eight months.

A 1967 graduate of Granite City high school, Cpl. Nizinski enlisted in the Corps two years ago. While at Great Lakes, he served as Marine barracks photographer.

AF Sgt. Bruce Bowers On Duty in Alaska

U. S. Air Force Sgt. Bruce F. Bowers, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Bowers of 2564 Cleveland blvd. and husband of the former Diane Martin of Normal, Ill., has arrived for duty at Fort Yukon Air Force Station, Alaska.

A 1965 graduate of Granite City high school, he is a radar operator, and is assigned to the 4th Air Force Command which guards the Arctic air approaches to North America. He previously served at Fort Austin Air Force Station, Michigan.

Decorated Marine On Leave from Vietnam

Marine Corporal John K. Caudron, 19, who recently won the Bronze Star Medal with Combat Distinguishing Device, the Purple Heart Medal and earned a meritorious combat promotion for action against the enemy in Vietnam, has arrived home on leave.

He plans to spend the next 25 days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Caudron, sr., 3839 Palmer avenue, before reporting April 27 to Cherry Point, N. C. for re-assignment.

The youthful Marine received the medals and promotion for heroic achievement in combat with his unit—the 81mm Mortar Platoon, Fifth Marines, when the An Hoa base was attacked August 19 by a large North Vietnamese Army Force.

Though wounded about the head and left eye by shrapnel from enemy grenades, "Cpl. Caudron continued to deliver accurate fire at the enemy while his more seriously wounded comrades were evacuated to a place of safety," the citation reads.

The local Marine also exposed himself repeatedly to the North Vietnamese troops while firing his 81mm mortar and eventually the enemy unit was forced to withdraw.

A 1968 graduate of Granite City high school, Cpl. Caudron was assigned to Vietnam last June 2. He enlisted in the Marine Corps in September 1968. His parents report the Marine has recovered from his wounds and "feels fine."

Mr. and Mrs. Caudron have a second son serving in Vietnam. Aviation Electrician Mate James Caudron jr., U. S. Navy, 21, presently with the 7th Helicopter Squadron, Detachment 110, assigned to the USS Ranger, an aircraft carrier, stationed off the coast of North Vietnam.

The squadron, an attack support and rescue unit, briefly was based at DaNang, but the two brothers were unable to arrange a meeting although both were serving in the same general area.

$68 Million Tax Returns in Springfield District So Far

The Internal Revenue Service Center in Kansas City, Mo., through last week had processed 297,800 returns of Springfield, Ill., District taxpayers due refunds totaling $68,808,048, Jay G. Philpott, district director for central and southern Illinois, said today.

However, Philpott said, income tax refunds of 6808 taxpayers have been delayed because of mathematical errors. Under the IRS Automatic Data Processing System, computers verify mathematical computations. When an error is detected, IRS must determine the correct tax before a refund can be issued.

As a result of these mathematical errors, Philpott said, some taxpayers will receive a smaller refund than they anticipated, while others will receive a larger one. In some cases, taxpayers who made mathematical errors will be billed for additional taxes.

Of the first 398,257 returns processed so far at the Service Center, many types of errors other than mathematical have been detected. Over 12,000 taxpayers use the wrong tax table to figure their tax, and 2475 used incorrect Social Security numbers. In many cases, Philpott said, these have led to refund delays.

A total of 1143 failed to sign their returns. Every tax return must be signed, and two signatures are required for a joint return. Unsigned returns have to be sent back to taxpayers for signature before refunds can be processed.

Philpott asked taxpayers to use the Form 1040 preaddressed name label that came with their blank return. Use of the label allows IRS to process returns more speedily than those without name labels.

The label contains information vital to the processing of the return, including name, address and Social Security number. Taxpayers who detect an error on the label should correct it on the label itself.

Rose Expert Will Share Knowledge With the Public

The Gardener's Garden club has completed preparations for a forum on roses to be held at the Wilson Park recreation center Wednesday, April 8, at 7:30 p.m. The main speaker will be C. E. Eads, well-known local rose authority.

Eads, a past president of the Rose Society of Greater St. Louis, is a qualified judge, presently serving on the American Rose Society's committee for the revising of standards for accrediting judges. He is a consulting rosarian for Illinois and Indiana, appointed by the American Rose Society.

Eads maintains a rose garden of over 500 bushes, featuring many different types of roses and a wide selection of colors. His presentation April 8 will include a brochure to be distributed to those attending on various types of roses, their selection, summer care and winter protection.

He will answer questions on these topics, plus the problem areas, such as diseases and pests and their control. "Anyone interested in rose culture is urged to attend. Admission is free," Mrs. A. A. Malott, Jr., president of Gardener's, points out.

Wayne Steffert, area advisor in ornamental horticulture for the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service, will be on hand to assist Eads with the program.

The Gardener's recently acquired a "Mini-Garden Center" at the Granite City public library. Their current educational display at the library is coordinated with the rose forum and features reference materials on roses.

DIVIDE AGE GROUPS AT PARK EASTER EGG HUNT

What kind of planning went into the Easter egg hunt on March 28 that was sponsored by the Granite City Park district? Children from the age of 2 through six were placed in one group. The group was lined up at the baseball diamond, with the older children filtering to the front.

A foot race began and the eggs were all gathered before the small children arrived at the area where the eggs were placed.

The small children braved the cold only to go home crying because they did not have the opportunity to find even one egg.

Why not divide the group, such as ages 2, 3, 4 and 5, and 6 and 7 years old? Let us hope for better organization in the future.

GRAND AVENUE RESIDENT

GCHS WELL-MANAGED, HIGHLY RATED BY MOST

To the Editor:

I read with interest the views of a local physician regarding the conduct and dress code of Granite City high school.

I think he should stick to medicine and let our educators run our well-managed high school.

The late Supreme Court Justice Brandeis said, "The greatest danger to liberty lies not in the insidious encroachment by men of zeal, well meaning but without understanding."

Our high school is very highly regarded by most of its students, by universities and by neighboring community educators.

Citizens, check with the communities which became lenient to student's whims and you'll find decaying schools and communities.

Ours is a full-time school. Keep it that way.

AN EDUCATOR
EMPLOYED ELSEWHERE

GCHS ADMINISTRATORS DOING JOB COURAGEOUSLY

To the Editor:

A medical doctor's recent blistering attack on the Granite City high school administration is a challenge to the easy of liberal fold.

Less than a week after the Press-Record reported that student lawlessness and destruction at SIU (Carbondale) has resulted in a whopping $200,000 increase in taxpayers' insurance cost alone, many people would like to see our local authorities for curbing student rebels.

On the other side of the river, Washington University's youthful radicals are literally burning down the campus and throwing their noses at authority while Chancellor Thomas Eliot, who for years has bowed to every leftist demand, can only ring his hands helplessly.

No one will ever accuse Washington University of "intimidation" or "coercing" its students.

The doctor apparently depicts the absence of real trouble" at GCHS. He attributes this to the fact that administration "intimidation has been greater than the reaction."

Fortunately, most parents and taxpayers are not being misled by this system which blunts student turmoil, and a majority of students readily accept rules and discipline as the necessary fabric of society.

Malcontents will always be with us, but whether the battle cry is "Kill the Pig," "Burn the ROTC," or "Abolish Dress Codes," reason must, and will, prevail.

The dereliction and irresponsible actions of the few dissent at GCHS should be primarily a matter of parental concern and control.

However, when their parents abdicate this responsibility, or worse yet, encourage their youngsters in confronting and intimidating administrators, school administrators are justified in taking reasonable measures to protect the rights of all adult and juvenile members of the district.

We Granite Cityans owe high school administrators a debt of thanks for having the courage to discharge their responsibilities.

WOMAN WHO FELT AID BY A GOOD SAMARITAN

To the Editor:

I just want you to know that we have some good Samaritans in Granite City. I am 70 years old and took a cab out to a store to shop and was walking to another store.

I took a short cut on a cinder road just before coming to the filling station on Nimecki and Johnson roads. I stumbled and fell and could not get up.

I saw a man at the filling station and called for help. The man ran over, helped me up and asked me if I was hurt. Thank God, I wasn't hurt.

Many people say mean things about others. So all I want to say is "Thanks!" to the man who helped me up. We could have more people like him.

BUXTON AVENUE WOMAN

2 MAIN PARTIES SHOULD SHOW CONCERN FOR POOR

To the Editor:

All parties should stop playing political football with the poor. Many things could be done to stop hunger and suffering here in America.

This can be done by any political party that's willing to take on a change of heart and to stop the political control over the political roost in Washington.

This is nothing new. This has happened in both major parties time and time again.

The Democrats and Republicans need to make lots of changes within their parties in order to stop the unrest that's tearing our country apart.

Poor people should not have to suffer for political gain. Since our country would like to provide for their families, let's provide for them.

On the other side of the river, Washington University's youthful radicals are literally burning down the campus and throwing their noses at authority while Chancellor Thomas Eliot, who for years has bowed to every leftist demand, can only ring his hands helplessly.

Growing Tax Burden Makes Streamlining of Government Agencies, Practices Essential

There is hope that a new Illinois Constitution may lead to some streamlining and simplifying of local-level government, with responsible agencies accorded more adequate authority, jurisdiction and resources to do the tasks citizens desire and which can be done better jointly than by individual citizens.

In the meantime, extreme fragmentation — what in Illinois then in any other state — continues.

The complex, chopped-up way in which Quad-Cities currently attempt to provide government services is reflected in the chart of tax rates for this spring's real estate and personal property tax bills. Twenty different taxing bodies will share the revenue: four townships, three school systems, three cities, three township road administrations, two park districts, two fire districts, one village, one levee district and Madison county.

Taxation is determined in the policy-setting stage by the spending decisions of elected and appointed boards and officers. In the collection phase, bills to families and businesses are determined by the rates of the agencies serving them, applied to assessments which represent 50% of the estimated value of their property.

On each $100 of assessed property value, Quad-City public schools will collect rates ranging from $2.99 to $3.33. Cities "take" will vary from $1.04 to $1.33, the levee district will collect 39 cents, the county 35 cents, rural roads three to 35 cents, townships 13 to 30 cents, parks 19 to 21 cents and fire districts 10 to 21 cents on each $100.

"Small government" is "big business" these days, even though any single local agency is dwarfed by the state and federal monoliths. The $297,212,265 county tax base for the 1969-70 tax year (1970 collection) includes $300,930,265 in Granite City, Venice, Nameoki and Chouteau townships.

With combined rates varying from $4.66 to $5.45, the bill will cost the average citizen $15 million. And the $15 million figure is only a fraction of what is to be expended in the coming year, since it does not take state and federal tax aid returned for use here, nor does it take in sales taxes, other non-property taxes and non-tax funds, such as fees and licenses. The Granite City school district, for example, has levied $7,101,460 and appropriated $19,137,243, nearly three times as much.

If a high level of efficiency was being achieved in nearly all functions, it could be argued that the bill would be a fair price. Unfortunately, the rendering of services still has many defects and some are getting worse, particularly in newer neighborhoods situated in unincorporated areas and along both sides of city-township borders.

No one remedy will magically meet every need. But the pattern clearly is making unification of agencies a less frightening prospect, and even those opposed to keeping government power as close as possible to the people who pay the bills and receive the benefits.

Elimination of overlapping and duplication of services, greater quantities, weeding out of programs which have outlived their usefulness, improvement of management and cost control — such ideas are fast moving from the realm of theoretical attractiveness to practical necessity.

To stay afloat at all, the ship of state of Quad-City government is going to have to scrape off its barnacles of overlapping, unskilled and motivated crews, utilize the most effective fuel and navigate the soundest possible course.

Outlawing of the Highway Trust Authority Act has saddened advocates of a build-now, pay-later plan for Illinois roads and gladdened those who saw the proposed bond program as a waste of huge sums on interest payments. Residents of Madison and St. Clair counties find it hard to join in the general weeping and rejoicing because of their special highway problem, which seems as unending as a freeway crossing a prairie.

The Illinois Supreme Court ruled that a three-member trust authority created to issue $2 billion in bonds was merely an extension of the highway division and thus subject to the $250,000 debt limit in the century-old state constitution. The money would have enabled primary urban roads and supplementary freeways to be built at an accelerated pace throughout Illinois (except here, until the road construction freeze is lifted).

Interest would have been substantial, but this would have been merely a partly offset by proceeding at 1970 rather than 1980 or 1990 construction costs. And the highways would have been available for use now, when many of them are needed.

Governor Ogilvie makes a lot of sense when he criticizes the past emphasis on Chicago expressways as opposed to downstate roads. He hoped to correct this imbalance with the aid of the bond issue.

But regardless of what can be achieved statewide through regular or borrowed funds, the value will be largely lost in the No. 2 area of population density, where the state is halting long overruns — road construction and improvements in the bi-county area has now entered its 22nd month without any visible sign that it will be lifted.

Already, the spring season is well under way in terms of project bidding and contract awards — elsewhere. Time is being lost that can never be fully made up.

As vital as the bond proposal may be, the unwarranted road construction shutdown is a problem of even greater urgency. It must be resolved without further delay.

Hard to Feel Impact of Highway Court Ruling While Need to Build Roads Here is Ignored

Broadway Atmosphere Here This Weekend

Broadway will come to the Quad-Cities tonight and on Friday and Saturday evenings. The East Bank Players, an organization of the locally-minority residents, will present its first major production, the Frank Loesser musical play, "Guys and Dolls."

Following a preview performance for senior citizens this evening, the ambitious undertaking will be staged for the public at 8:15 on the evenings of April 3 and 4 at the Elks club.

A cast of 34 has been assembled, the comedy lines have been rehearsed to achieve precise timing, the ballads and dance numbers have been mastered by talented actors, and appropriate and colorful costumes have been obtained from a variety of sources. An entertaining, fun-filled evening awaits those fortunate enough and foresighted enough to obtain tickets.

Free Chest X-Rays Again Available

The free chest x-rays provided by the Madison County Tuberculosis Association at public and plant locations each spring are an important phase of the effort to maintain a healthy community and populace. Local residents are urged to take advantage of this time and trouble to visit the mobile x-ray unit during one of its series of visits to the Quad-Cities.

We sure hope the promises made by this year's crop of candidates last longer than their ballpoint campaign pens.

Need to Appropriate Funds a Factor in Timing of Legislative Sessions

(League of Women Voters of Illinois)

The 1871 recessed until fall and did not adjourn until the spring of 1872.

The 1897 General Assembly provided for its own return to consider gubernatorial vetoes and other business before the fall session in 1907 and another just before the 1909 legislative convened.

The 1909 General Assembly recessed to October 14 and is meeting again this morning. The 1917 General Assembly, Article IV, Section 18, also had an influence on the timing of the legislative sessions.

Each session of the General Assembly must provide for all the appropriations necessary for the ordinary and contingent expenses of the government until the expiration of the first fiscal quarter after the adjournment of the next regular session. The aggregate amount of which shall not be increased without a vote of two-thirds of the General Assembly made in a two annual appropriations during its "regular session" ending June 30, 1969, and will make appropriations for fiscal 1970 at its April 1970 session.

At the present time, it may be said that the legislative session is being delayed by the impediments to the meeting of the legislature at any time to which it wishes to adjourn have been substantially removed.

The legislature cannot, however, call itself into session once it has adjourned without setting another session.

Lead Used to Avoid Engine Knock Adds to the Peril of Auto Exhaust

(American Chemical Society)

Lead in the air we breathe is increasing. Around San Diego, the amount of lead in the air is about 5% per year, with concentrations at times as high as 80% of the limit proposed by health agencies.

Experiments have pinpointed automotive exhausts as the source of the excess lead, says Dr. T. J. Chow, geochemist at Scripps Institution of Oceanography, La Jolla, Calif.

The hundreds of millions of pounds of lead used in antiknock chemicals in this country each year pollute the soil and vegetation and travel long distances through the air to be washed out by rain or snow and discharged, directly or through rivers, into the oceans, Dr. Chow relates.

Because of the poisonous nature of lead, increasing lead pollutants in our environment constitute a health hazard that cannot be ignored. Previous research has shown that exposure of human beings to long-term increases in atmospheric lead results in higher levels of lead in the blood.

For three years, Dr. Chow's group has sampled continuously the air around the city of San Diego. The lead particles in the air are collected by filtering devices at five sampling stations representing various environments — metropolitan downtown, suburban, and remote high mountains. The scientists find that concentrations of atmospheric lead vary with the season, with weather conditions, and with geographical location.

Levels of lead in the air increase drastically from mid-ocean to the high mountains, to the seashore, to center-city environments. Some suspended particles in the San Diego urban air contain as much as 68% lead, Dr. Chow reports.

Lead concentrations of atmospheric lead are observed in the San Diego area. In the summer the warm, polluted, inland air is displaced and diluted by sea breezes containing low concentrations of lead.

But in the winter, especially in the early morning, cold inland air can be trapped close to the surface of the earth, concentrating the pollutants under sunny conditions, the San Diego downtown air shows weekly lead concentrations as high as 10 micrograms per cubic meter. Dr. Chow compares this to the tentative national air quality limit for lead, 10 micrograms per cubic meter, proposed in 1969 by the American Industrial Hygiene Association, a chemists' association. Experiments performed by Dr. Chow and John L. Earl establish the similarity of the lead contained in air samples to the samples of gasoline simultaneously purchased in the area.

Moreover, they show that the lead in air samples and gasoline is different from lead produced in natural weathering processes in surface soils and materials.

A technique used to track down the source of the lead pollutants involves measuring the relative quantities of the various types of lead atoms in the samples, since this is a characteristic and identifying property of lead.

Lead compounds from auto exhausts not only pollute the air but also contribute to soil and vegetation along roadways. The excessive lead content found there sometimes as high as 40 times the natural lead occurrence — suggests that the lead deposited is not very mobile and is accumulating in the topsoil.

Dr. Chow further comments that the levels in the soils of various metropolitan regions can range from 20 to 300 times greater than natural lead levels.

Even the polar region does not escape lead pollution, he points out. Studies of the chemical composition of polar snow at various depths show that lead pollutants in the northern hemisphere have increased sharply since 1940.

Recent Greenland snows show concentrations 500 times greater than natural levels. Since the introduction of lead chemicals into gasoline in 1924, their deposition has rapidly multiplied with our growing, mobile, relatively affluent population.

Dr. Chow cautions that in the U. S., in 1968 alone, about 600 million pounds of lead was concentrated in the antiknock agent in gasoline.

Must File Return to Obtain Refund

(Internal Revenue Service)

Q) My only income last year was from a summer job between semesters at college. To get a refund, can I just send in my W-2 or do I have to fill out a whole tax form?

A) You must file a tax return to obtain any refund due. Copies of Form 1040 and instructions are available at local IRS offices as well as many banks and post offices if you cannot find them in the mail.

If you read the instructions, you should have little difficulty completing your return.

Q) What's the tax difference between alimony and child support payments?

A) Alimony is considered taxable income to the recipient and has to be reported. Alimony payments are allowed as a tax deduction for payers who itemize deductions.

Child support payments, on the other hand, are not taxable and do not have to be reported for tax purposes.

No deduction is allowed for these payments, but they might be a factor in determining who can claim the child as dependent.

Divorce or separation agreements specify whether a payment is alimony or for child support.

Q) My brother and I each claim the support of our grandfather. He furnishes the remainder of his support from his Social Security. Can either of us claim him as a dependent?

A) The support test for claiming a dependent on medical expenses has been met since each of you contributes over 10% of his total support and the sum of your contributions was over half of his support.

Q) Is there any change in the dependency support tests that may be deducted for contributions to retirement plans by self-employed people?

A) No, this provision is the same. It was not your dependent, even if they filed a joint return or had $600 or more gross income, if the other person's dependency tests are met, the time the expenses were paid or incurred.

Q) I sent a postcard to your local IRS office and ask for a free copy of Publication 502, which lists the medical and dental expenses.

Q) I'm claiming a deduction for the braces my daughter wears in straightening her teeth. Should I send in the dental bills I've paid with my return?

A) No, but keep them for your tax records. They will be needed if this item on your return is questioned.

Q) I paid my daughter's medical bills last year when she had an operation. Can I deduct them on my return even though she is not my dependent?

A) You may deduct the medical expenses you paid for someone who is not your dependent, even if they filed a joint return or had $600 or more gross income, if the other person's dependency tests are met, the time the expenses were paid or incurred.

Advantages of REALTOR SERVICE

ONLY MEMBERS OF THE G.C.
BOARD OF REALTORS ARE LISTED ON THIS PAGE

THE ADVANTAGES FOR THE HOMEOWNER WHO IS ABOUT TO SELL HIS PROPERTY of obtaining the service of a reliable Realtor are many and varied. Listed below are 7 reasons why property owners need Realtors.

- SELLING REAL ESTATE requires skill and experience. The real estate salesman is in a much better position to move a property at a fair price than the average owner.
- THE REAL ESTATE SALESMAN knows the market and where prospects may be found.
- Acting as a middleman between owner and buyer, the REAL ESTATE

SALESMAN is able to negotiate with a better chance of reaching an agreement than if the 2 interested parties sat face-to-face across the same table.

- THE AVERAGE BUYER is timid, about talking frankly to the owner. He may ask for bringing up criticisms that must be answered before a sale can be made, and he may be too proud to discuss financial resources or to ask for the terms he needs.
- THE OWNER is inclined to be sensitive. He presents criticism, and his interview with the prospect may end in a heated argument rather than a sale.

- THE REALTOR BROKER knows how to advertise properties to the best advantage.
- The commission paid to the REALTOR is nominal for the advantages of having the sale in the hands of an expert.
- In the long run, it costs the owner more to act as his own agent than it would to use the services of a GOOD REALTOR.

'World Game' is Planned To Make the World Work

By PETE BROWN OF THE STAFF

Can mankind be saved by a game? Well, look at it this way: Military strategists say battles, even wars, can be won by game. Big business plays the same game. The military long before the theory of games was enunciated.

"Think tank" consulting outfit, like the Rand Corp. game their way to all kinds of problem solutions.

It all deals with game theory, a concept in mathematics which says you can simulate a problem along the lines of a game, with prescribed rules, and work it out in terms of a head-to-head competition for maximum advantage and minimal loss.

As to those military, business and Think Tank people, the games they play are "zero sum."

Wage Law Part of Reason For Teenage Job Scarcity

Has the federal minimum wage contributed to the persistence of teenage unemployment rates among teenagers?

A study just released by Commissioner of Labor Statistics Geoffrey H. Moore finds that the teenage jobless has risen to five times the adult rate in recent years—compared to three times the adult rate before 1965—as a result of a number of factors: the unprecedented 40% growth in the number of youths aged 16-19, the smaller expansion of job opportunities for youth, high turnover among teenage workers and legal restrictions on youth employment.

It concludes, "Increases in the level and expansion in the coverage of the federal minimum wage may have contributed to the employment problems of teenagers, but it is difficult to disentangle such influences from numerous other influences."

Differential Urged
Nevertheless, even from a variety of sources, including experience in foreign countries, suggests that "a substantial differential between youth and adult rates would increase job opportunities for teenagers."

The study was made at the request of Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz, and was conducted under the direction of Thomas W. Gavett, assistant commissioner for wages and industrial relations, Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Teenage job problems, the report finds, may have been aggravated by the increase, during the 1960s, in the level of the minimum wage relative to average earnings and by the extension in coverage of the minimum wage law to industries in which teenage employment is important. "The magnitude of the employment effects of minimum wage legislation probably has been small," according to the report.

Postwar Population Boom
The youth unemployment rate was roughly triple the adult rate in the post-war years up to 1963, when the situation deteriorated sharply as the post-world war II baby crop turned old enough to seek employment.

Although the rate for teenagers has declined slightly in recent years, it has not declined as much as the adult rate. As a result, it now is 5.3 times the adult rate.

The report notes that one easy-access labor market for teenagers—the family farm—is now available to fewer youths. The range of employment opportunities for youths is also restricted because of the limited skill and experience teenagers can offer and, for those in school, the time of their availability for work.

Turnover, Draft Uncertainty
A special survey conducted for this study indicated that many employers view teenage job applicants with serious reservations. Employers cite uncertainty over the draft, high labor turnover, and "unreliability of teenagers" with respect to job performance.

They also mention the unwillingness of teenagers to accept wages usually offered for jobs they are qualified to take, but do not rate this as important as the other factors.

When it comes to hiring teenagers under age 18, employers most frequently cited restrictions on employment of youth in hazardous occupations as an important consideration.

Restrictions on hours of work, the cumbersome machinery of work certificates, union restrictions and transportation problems also imperil the teenagers' path to work.

Hiring Standards Up

The minimum wage was the second most common reason for employers raising hiring standards between 1966 and 1969, the study showed. However, the proportion of firms that did raise standards because of the minimum wage hike was very small.

Regarding the widespread belief that young workers expect unduly high wages, the evidence suggests that wage demands of most unemployed teenagers are generally not greatly different from the actual earnings of employed teenagers. There is some evidence that unemployed teenagers are disinclined to accept the lower wage jobs.

The Labor Department study cites two recent surveys which indicate that, in most cases, teenagers are knowledgeable about prevailing wage levels and adjust their expectations according to differences in levels between areas and over time.

Learner Certificate

Whether a youth differential in the minimum wage would create job opportunities for young people was also investigated in the study. Youth differentials currently exist in Federal minimum wage legislation in the form of the certification programs.

About 5300 establishments have applied for full-time student and learner certificates under the Fair Labor Standards Act, but less than half the authorized time has been actually used.

The study points out that "the evidence suggests that some employers would be willing to hire more teenagers at lower wage rates—but legal restrictions on the employment of youth and apprehension over the quality of teenagers are equally relevant, perhaps even more important."

Youth differentials also are provided in a number of state laws, usually at a level of about 90% of the adult wage. According to a special survey of state experience in 1969, these have had only limited effect on youth employment partly because the state minimums are so low.

Third of Adult Pay Abroad
"Evidence from abroad indicates that low wages for youth are an inducement to employers to seek young workers eagerly. The relatively low youth unemployment rates abroad are partially a reflection of the fact of low wages for youth. In the United Kingdom, the Netherlands and Japan, young workers start work at about one-third of the adult rate."

"In the U. S. in 1967, 15- to 17-year-old males received a wage which averaged about 70% of the average wage paid those aged 20 to 25. Much of this difference reflects a different mix of jobs and job status in the two age groups."

While youth jobless rates in the U. S. have been five times those for adults, they are about the same as adult rates in Germany and the United Kingdom and less than twice as high in Japan and the Netherlands.

In the Soviet Union, on the other hand, teenagers work shorter hours and get higher pay than adults doing the same work. As a result, managers have been reluctant to hire youths and, to offset this, the government has had to establish quotas for the employment of youths.

Experience with youth differentials and unemployment abroad is not easily translatable into American terms. The study stresses that "low wage rates for youth in Europe cannot be separated from the extensive apprenticeship program in Britain, Germany and the Netherlands which help to channel children from school to work."

Lifetime Job System in Japan
Regarding Japan, low wages for youth "cannot be divorced from other parts of Japanese institutions, especially the lifetime system with its virtual life-time guarantee of employment within the firm and high wages in later years offsetting the low wages in youth."

The study points out that the employment advantage of a youth differential would be restricted by the fact that many teenagers are available for only part-time employment and have a restricted geographic horizon for their job search.

"It would also be restricted by American wage-setting institutions which emphasize a wage for a job, not an age-wage relationship, and further limited by legal restrictions on the employment of youth."

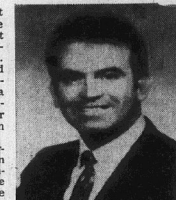

The effects of a youth differential would depend, also, on the magnitude of the differential and on relationship of the adult minimum rate to average levels.

The basic minimum wage in 1968 was 55.6% of the average hourly earnings of rank-and-file workers in private industry. In 1968, it was 51.9%.

Less Rapid Increase Ahead
Teenage unemployment may be less of a problem in the 1970s, whether or not a youth differential is instituted.

"During the coming decade, the teenage population will increase 12%, compared to 40% in the 1960s."

"Assuming no major decline in economic activity, this slow rate of growth alone should help ease problems of absorbing teenagers into the employed labor force."
